Moon In Aries Man Secrets

by Anna Kovach

What do you need to know about your man with moon in Aries?

Hi Guys, by now you will probably have read one of my 'Secrets' books and you are armed with plenty of character, personality and sexual information about your guy's Star Sign or Sun Sign, but there is still more to learn as astrology is so much more than just the Sun Sign.

Once you read his book on Aries Moon you will find that so much falls into place about your Aries Moon Man and what is more, you will begin to understand other people in your life with Aries Moon as well.

I have a very close relationship with an Aries Moon person, two in fact, and this placement tends to repeat in families and so if your husband has it, his Dad may have it and one of your children will probably have it and so it is well worth getting to grips with.

The Moon traits are often exhibited unconsciously and while you may be aware of them, your Man may not be. It is vital to know the Moon sign of your partner as the Moon influences play out in relationships quite dramatically.

Bear in mind that the negative traits of the Moon Sign can be exacerbated by stressful aspects to the Moon or alleviated by helpful aspects from Venus and Jupiter.

So let's get down to business...

More about the Moon.

The Sun, Ascendant and the Moon are the most important influences in a person's chart. Of course major aspects, rulers and planets near the ascendant are also key, but you cannot get away from the influence of the moon, especially in relationships.

The moon represents emotions, security, safety and long term relationships and attachment figures. The moon also represents the mother or mother figure, and the effect our very first bonding relationship with, usually our mother, had on us.

You can see why the moon is so important in love already from this brief description.

The moon also represents patterns of behaviour we set up in childhood, the effect childhood experiences had on us and how we still carry those reflex emotional reactions and memories with us. While the Sun is the future, the moon is the past, it is our roots and our background.

While we need to grow into the Sun, we can never forget where we came from and that is the Moon.

We all know that men are greatly influenced by their mothers, either in a good way, a bad way and usually a combination.

A guy's mother is often the thorn in our side as girls, as our guy often defers to her, hence why there are so many mother in law jokes. So, to understand his Moon sign, is to understand his relationship with his mother and how the dynamic he has with her can impact on your love life.

His Feminine Side

How well has your man integrated his feminine side i.e. his nurturing and receptive nature? How comfortable is he with expressing emotion or giving nourishment.

This is often indicated by the relationship between his Sun and Moon sign. Is he in touch with his intuition and feeling nature or does he keep emotions at bay?

The Moon is symbolic of our deepest emotional patterns, our needs and our automatic responses. It shows how a man feels about his anima and that will affect how he reacts to female influence outside him.

The Moon has a bearing on how he forms attachments and what he needs from others to make him secure. It is about how he gives himself self-care and how he is able to parent himself which will have a direct bearing on how he is able to be parent his children.

The Moon also represents home life, community, family matters and the way our immediate environment affects us.

The Moon Sign

The Moon goes through all the signs every 28 days and so no matter what Sun Sign your man is, the moon could be in any one of the other signs.

This book aims to look at:

1. What having Aries Moon means and the traits it bestows,
2. Aries Moon Man and what he wants in love.
3. The cosmic mixture of his Sun and Moon sign.
4. The compatibility of your sun, moon and ascendant sign and his moon.
5. Your Sun Sign and His Moon sign.

Aries Moon – What does it tell you?

Impulsive, strong willed and vibrant. Aries Moon Man is attracted to strong women and he likes a woman who gives as good as she gets. He gravitates to people with strong personalities. He enjoys it when people stand up to him and he respects that.

He prides himself on having guts and gumption.

Yes, he does have a temper and can be quite fiery. He does not stand for being pushed around and he does react strongly to threats.

His temper usually abates rather quickly and he likes to move on and move forward rather than dwelling on things, but that does not mean he will forget.

This is a daring placement and he enjoys speed, adventure and competitive situations.

Aries Moon Men often love fast cars and motorbikes or sports like skiing, water skiing or any sport which involves speed.

Men with this placement can be quite hyperactive and like to act on ideas as soon as they have them – they are impatient.

In relationships he likes things to move fast and he enjoys people who challenge and dare him.

He is attracted to strength and can be critical towards what he sees as weakness or weak willed.

This moon placement indicates that his parents gave him quite a bit of freedom but not necessarily as much attention or affection as he would have liked – positively they will have encouraged him to be his own person and make his own way in life.

On the negative side they may have neglected his emotional development and thus Aries Men can be emotionally immature and could throw tantrums or engage in childish activities to get your attention.

He has a volatile and emotionally impulsive nature. He may often behave in a precipitous way without due consideration for the consequences of his actions.

His flare ups of temper are sudden, but temporary and soon forgotten.

He is fiercely independent and insists on following his own path of action, right or wrong, he will not tolerate interference from others. He has a tendency to dominate others emotionally and he often takes the reaction of others personally.

Although he often acts before he thinks, most of the time he makes the right decision even without due deliberation. He is someone who has strong gut feelings about things.

Illnesses he may suffer from are often to do with fevers, swelling and headaches. Sports and activity are vital to his well-being, he needs to be busy as he has so much energy to burn off. Aries

Moon Man must drink loads of water to flush out his kidneys and must look after his heart health by eating good oils.

Some may see him as hot headed and at times he goes for overkill – you need to help him to foster a little more moderation in terms of his all or nothing approach to life.

Let's Delve Deeper

The Moon in Aries brings out an instinctual, irrational level of Aries very different from the Sun's conscious initiative and leadership. It is the wild side of the sign: raw, touchy and full of life that comes out. Always very hot and passionate about everything, there is a very competitive streak.

The Moon in all fire signs reflects a profound need to feel special and to be almost exempt from the ordinary limits. If contained and balanced by more solid chart factors (combined with air planets which give it structure without stifling it), it can give rise to a potent imagination as well as the courage to express it.

Aries Moon Men believe they must be special to be loved and that is why they push themselves in sports and business or just in being different to grab attention.

Sometimes Aries Moon Men feel a sense of entitlement, they feel their birth right is to succeed and not just be an ordinary cog in a wheel and this fuels both ambition and frustration when things do not go their way.

Men with Aries Moons have very immediate and powerful emotional reactions to things.

Their enthusiasm is infectious and likewise when they do not get the feel for something they are not afraid to say it either.

They are very open emotionally and are sincere and honest about their feelings, which they find very hard to conceal. Their temper is quick but it soon dies down.

There is a lot of impatience, they like to get on with things and hate it when people or things get in the way.

Aries Moon Men like what they want when they want it and are not always compromising. They like to have their own way - which is the best way of course.

In general Men with Aries Moon tend to have more contentious relationships with women. This pattern was set in childhood where they locked horns with their mother.

Aries Moon Men like a strong or bossy women, but they will also feel the need to resist her and argue with her. Men with Aries Moon like to air their emotions as they arise and that is why they will erupt when angry and express that feeling.

Aries Moon Men do not find compromise easy unless they have strong Libran or Taurean placements or moon conjunct Venus. They will often test your limits as when they want their own way, they very rarely back down until they get it.

Aries Moon Men can even sulk or throw their toys out the trolley when they are thwarted – when they calm down, they will forget all about it and expect you to as well.

Aries Moon Men are slow to learn and slow to tame and so you have to make sure you do have boundaries and limits as they are very good at breaking down those boundary walls over time.

It takes excitement, competition, challenge and success to nourish Aries Moon Man emotionally.

Too much routine, repetition and mundane chores result in headaches and other ailments, ultimately depression or even alcoholism. He needs the freedom to be himself, be in control of his own life and to feel that he is living a worthwhile existence.

Work and activity do not scare him, he loves to be active and may have an athletic physique, and no one can accuse him of being lazy. He must have a mission, without a goal or something to challenge him, he feels listless and depressed.

He never marks time, he finds it imperative to occupy his time in a productive way. He is full of purpose and relishes having something exciting to put his teeth into.

He is a natural leader and are often the first to take the initiative and to make the first move in approaching someone – he wants to get things on the move romantically or socially.

A Moon in fire needs a sense of meaning, an imaginative connection with a higher purpose, he wants to feel part of something larger and more significant than the mundane world.

He instinctively wants to vitalise reality with drama and imagination, what crushes him is a banal, meaningless existence.

He takes a bold and courageous approach to life, his enthusiasm and innate optimism and positivity are wonderful characteristics.

Aries Moon man is a very proactive person, unlikely to let life get him down for too long - he won't wait for someone to pick him up, he will drag himself up, dust himself off and get going again, tomorrow is always a new day.

A child with this Moon must be taken seriously when he tries to bring the vividness of the imaginal world into daily life or he will withdraw into inflated fantasies.

If his parents were too austere, too ridged and too authoritarian, Aries Moon Man may spend the rest of his life rebelling against any restriction, even sensible limits, and that is when he is very hard to handle.

You have to handle this moon sign carefully; they need some structure and plenty of emotional nourishment, but if you try and tie them down they become either very unpredictable, volatile or very depressed. Impatience and temper are part and parcel of an Aries Moon.

Men with Aries Moon, need to express themselves openly and honestly, to assert their individuality and to be enthusiastically involved in new projects and activities.

This is not an easy position, he may have counter dependant tendencies: often denying his need for closeness and intimacy and attempting to be emotionally self-sufficient.

When deep feelings and needs emerge, he may unconsciously fend them off with anger, impulsive action or sexual expression.

Anger is very often the first emotion he feels when in a difficult or threatening situation.

Most likely, an Arian parent was quick to respond to his wants and desires and allowed him the freedom to pursue his own interests.

The parent/s may have encouraged his independent nature as they were also independent or perhaps too busy or self-absorbed, and did not want to be burdened with responsibility for his fate.

His mother probably imparted attitudes of, "Be tough! Be strong!" such attitudes may have had less to do with an urge to further his development and more to do with defences against closeness and the expression of need and vulnerable feelings, i.e. "Big boys don't cry".

The parent/s may have encouraged his individuality while at the same time failing to really affirm and support who he was.

His mother may have been too bossy, domineering and interfering - forcing him to live his life on her terms and insisting her way was best, this can result in him having suppressed anger and a lack of confidence or feelings of inner rebellion.

Sometimes Aries Moon indicates a submissive parent who catered to all his whims and impulses, but never acknowledged or met his true needs or helped him to develop the frustration tolerance needed to mature and adapt effectively.

Aries Moon Man needs to learn to distinguish impulse from deeper wants and needs and to come to know what he really wants beyond the thrill of momentary satisfaction.

He may need to learn to identify, value and fulfil deeper needs, maintaining independence while also allowing himself to experience dependence.

Aries Moon Man can be fixated with impulse satisfaction, which is why speed is such an appeal and he may struggle to deal with the more ordinary day to day aspects of life.

He thrives when he is busy and in competitive situations. He does well in driven, cut throat careers.

He loves children and doing things for his kids is often a very fulfilling time for him as he is still a kid deep inside and he naturally bonds with children and young adults as they have a freshness, an energy and an innocent appreciation of life which he relates to.

Aries Moon Men can have problems with alcohol as it helps them achieve that rush and the escape they so crave; but they are also more likely than other Moon Signs to kick the habit.

To be healthy, Aries Moon Man needs fun and creative excitement in his life – boredom is a killer. He needs hobbies that fire his imagination and a purpose in life.

He is very protective over his family: indeed he may lose his temper with his wife and kids and yet if anyone else dares upset his family, they will feel his wrath.

The Aries Moon Lover

What does the Aries Moon Man look for in a lover?

He wants a lover who....

1. ...is someone who is assertive and independent and can look after their own needs.
2. ...is positive.
3. ...who has enthusiasm and the desire to jump into new activities with him or be a cheerleader for his goals and activities.

4. ...who is free to be spontaneous, speak her mind and express her needs
5. ...who takes responsibility for her emotions.
6. ...who will not nag or belittle.
7. ...who is not so cynical and weary of life that she has lost a sense of faith and the excitement of life's magic.
8. ...has imagination and creativity.
9. ...considers him her undisputed #1.
10. ...is tolerant, patient and willing to compromise.

Men with Aries Moon, get on best with women who are Leo, Sagittarius, Gemini, Libra or Aquarius. He may not be compatible with Aries women, he may respect them, but have trouble getting on with them.

He also clicks with these same signs, including Aries if they are the rising or moon sign of the woman. Libra is probably the most suitable match.

A Supersonic Lover

Hold onto your heart as the Aries Moon Man will sweep you off your feet. He loves romance and he thinks big and so this love affair is quick to get started.

He assumes you'll say yes, very few turn him down, and so he is forthright in asking you out. It is doubtful he will beat around the bush or hang about in the shadows like a mystery man, he wants your relationship off that launch pad and shooting into orbit.

Aries moon man is used to getting his own way and so, even if you say no, he will give it another bash.

He enjoys activity dates, he cannot sit still for long: he is a person whom my grandmother would have described as having 'ants in his pants'. He kinda likes to set the tone for dates as he tends to have a clear vision of what he wants.

He gets bored fast and may not enjoy house parties, unless they are like 'The Party' with Peter Sellers.

He tends to prefer dates where you and he can go about as a couple sampling various activities, but not stuck with one set of people in one place.

He enjoys long drives, picnics, dining out and any date that involves energetic activity from dancing to surfboarding.

He enjoys doing things that are new and he will love it if you introduce him to new sports or pastimes.

His personality is intense and he is rarely impartial, he likes to be with people who are real and who make up their mind and do it.

Of course, Aries are an impatient sign and he can get angry or even go off on his own if you keep him waiting too long.

He will walk away from any place where there is a queue, even if it's the hottest ticket in town.

He has a mind of his own and it often quite unfiltered, this makes him hilarious as he comes out with the darnedest things.

Aries Moon Men love to laugh and they can be very funny without meaning to be. He is very imaginative and likes to surprise you.

Life with Aries Moon Man must be spontaneous, he abhors routine as it confines him.

Aries Moon likes relationships to move fast and they are keen to give you a test drive, yes, sexually things move fast.

Aries Moon tends to be uncomplicated in the bedroom, he prefers straightforward interaction and he enjoys the physicality of sex and the togetherness and yet he is not the most affectionate.

His style when it comes to loving is enthusiastic and yet he may not have the patience to really explore sexually and create an almost tantric experience.

Remember, with Aries Moon, his mother encouraged independence and did not mollycoddle him, she fostered his alpha male potential and emboldened him with a can do spirit.

His mother may not have been physically affectionate and she may have been a fan of 'tough love' and this is why he cannot totally relax and do the warm and fuzzy routine.

He is your swashbuckling hero who whisks you off to the bedroom and then after a brief cuddle wants to get back to battle or have a good sleep.

He may be great at being imaginative in terms of initiating intimacy, but actually being intimate is always slightly awkward for him and he likes to get on with it.

Aries Moon Man is an optimist, he can take the rough with the smooth and he loves a can do attitude in others. He is impressed when you roll up your sleeves and pitch in, he adores it when you take an interest in his work or hobbies. He gets frustrated with complaining and just like his mother, he does not appreciate wimping out and will tell you to toughen up.

He can demand a lot of attention. He will either talk a lot, tell stories or try to get you involved in what he is doing.

He loves company and yet it is always on his terms as when he wants some time alone, he will be off, perhaps without a care of what you are doing.

He cannot stand being pinned down or restricted, but he will tend to expect consistency and a certain reliability from you.

He can be guilty of having double standards. While he will do anything for you if you ask, he may not be great at sensing or guessing your unexpressed desires or needs.

Aries Moon Man can be selfish, it is natural for him to grab what he wants and needs from the tree of life with little consideration for you. He was brought up to be independent and free and he did not learn compromise or teamwork.

Like his mother was with him, he expects you to stand up for yourself and go after what you want irrespective of what he is doing.

If you are a passive or submissive type, Aries Moon Man may railroad you.

He is really good at getting his own way. Life with him is often a compromise for you and yet it is never dull, as when push comes to shove, he is a great guy to be around.

He has a temper, never forget that. There will be angry words and some tantrums.

He needs sleep, exercise and yes, routine, even if he hates it. He is not a slow burner, he gets angry fast, but he is quick to cool down.

It is best to wait for him to cool off before you try and reason with him. When angry, he can be super intelligent and very insightful, it is like in anger he suddenly knows things he could not know.

Getting angry with you or others is part of his personality and you can help by assisting him to let it off steam constructively.

He is not a quitter and will like to see that fighting spirit reflected by you. He does not obey rules and he frequently breaks promises as he forgets things when they are not a priority to him.

You need to give him a strong reminder of what you want, or forget it, he will. You cannot change him overnight, but over time you can have a positive effect, smoothing down his rough edges and coaxing out the tender side.

But, you have to love him as he is or find someone else, as he will never change at the core.

Trust and honesty matter to him and he likes to know what you are thinking. If you do anything behind his back, even if your intentions were not dishonorable, he will feel very uneasy about that.

He is pretty upfront about his feelings and is an open book. He is terrible at keeping secrets. It is hard for him to understand personalities that are more private or reticent about sharing.

Aries Moon Man is a quick and eager learner who is never short of admirers as he has a great energy about him and people are attracted to him as he seems capable and in control.

Your powers of forgiveness will be tested with Aries Moon Man, he expects that, but after him, life with any other is kinda dull and lacklustre.

Aries Moon Man and the rest of the Zodiac

Aries Moon Man and Aries Girl

This is a powerful love match and it is rather likely that as an Aries Girl you will have a love affair with an Aries Moon Man at some point in your life.

Moon Conjunct Sun is a powerful synastry connection and generally it will work out well and yet strong aspects to each of your Sun and Moon at birth may have an impact on the exact outcome.

There is a powerful attraction between you both and that attraction cuts like a knife though many other life circumstances as it locks you in and magnetically draws you together.

Aries Girl will catch Aries Moon Man's eye and he will probably be the one who makes the first move. Your compatibility as a couple will be felt intuitively by him and he will recognize the potential before you do, as Moon characteristics are more hidden.

So Aries Moon Man will immediately notice your Aries traits and be drawn to them, once you get to know him better you will understand how he has many similar values as reflected by his Arian emotional nature.

As your relationship develops and it will, Aries Moon Man will play a supportive role in your life and in many cases you as Aries Sun will be the dominant partner who takes control and steers the relationship.

There can potentially be problems where the Man has the Aries Moon and you, the woman an Aries Sun.

Over time Aries Moon Man may feel a little unsettled or even suspicious – he may not notice right away, but over time he clicks that he does not have the power in this match and that may bother him, depending on his star sign, especially if he is fire.

If he is Pisces or Scorpio he may be quite happy for you to wear the pants as he will exercise his power in more subliminal ways. If he is Virgo or Cancer he will be able to work with you and you will have very different roles which means you do not tread on each others' toes.

In general, if your Aries Moon Man fancies himself as an alpha male, he may get jittery once he discovers that you are seizing the control and you must be careful not to overplay your hand.

On the positive side however, it is certainly encouraging to know that your man is behind you and has faith in your ideas and feels synthetic to your cause.

It all depends on how happy he feels about playing this role longer term. But there is another aspect to this, you may not want to play the lead role in your love drama and you may want him to be a leader sometimes and not let the buck always stop with you.

Aries Moon Man with the Fire Signs

(Fire signs are Leo and Sagittarius)

This aspect indicates love and harmony and is a very positive one to have; it forms an excellent basis for marriage and a long lasting bond.

There is much to unite you and your instinctive reactions and desire for well-being tends to be in sync. You are less likely to anger each other and there are strong grounds for cooperation.

Any disharmony or even separations are temporary as the pull to get back together is strong.

Your emotional interactions flow and it feels quite natural to share; you tend to accept each other and it is rare for you to feel you have to keep secrets because you fear being misunderstood.

You enjoy cooperating and romance tends not to stutter due to your needs jarring.

You will not waste energy competing or trying to undermine each other; you both feel that there is too much to gain by being together and too much to be lost by being apart, that you will not cut your nose to spite your face, by prolonging disputes.

The only problem with this match is complacency and a lack of willingness to tackle difficult issues – problems which could be solved or talked about tend to be brushed under the carpet.

You may both procrastinate, not only about interpersonal issues, but also about issues that face you both i.e. decisions about where to live, job changes, moving home etc, so much so that you can get into a rut or begin to drift with no real direction.

Boredom can set in, and you both need to be more conscious about what is happening within your relationship and be willing to have a love or sexual audit every so often, just to avoid becoming stale.

If one or both of you have Cardinal or Fire signs rising or a strongly placed Jupiter or Uranus in your chart configuration, this mix may be too easy and perhaps not intense or dynamic enough.

One of you may get bored and may perhaps begin to desire a little more stimulation elsewhere.

You can really rely on each other and there is a genuine interest in how each other feels and in assisting each other to feel needed and loved.

Aries Moon Man will rely on your wit and wisdom – he is attracted to your spirit and your style and you fulfil many of his expectations.

You rely on his support and feel he understands you and appreciates you, without wanting to change you.

Aries Moon Man with the Cardinal Signs

(Cardinal Signs – Cancer, Libra and Capricorn)

This represents a mixture of temperaments and a clash of personalities and innate natures, but there can still be a strong attraction.

Aries Moon Man may find you bossy or thoughtless and arrogance can be a big problem on both sides. Aries Moon Man may withdraw or become more moody as he feels thwarted and unable to express his emotions or be understood.

If you are a Cardinal sign, you may have the effect of making Aries Moon Man more defensive and you tend to get under his skin. You have this effect of going close to the bone and you can make him uncomfortable as you push his buttons.

However, this combination has so much energy that it can excite and be a catalyst for positive change in your both. You will not get bored and life is less likely to get predictable than with the fire signs.

Aries Moon Man may exaggerate and take things that happen in this relationship far too seriously.

You have to be careful to monitor his feelings as while you think things are fine, he may have a different take.

This can lead to those situations where you get blindsided by something you simply did not see coming as you are not in touch with his feelings as much as he is with yours.

You have to work at making the partnership equal as it can too easily slip into an unbalanced situation in terms of power and only you can change that, this means developing a great deal of awareness and more sensitivity. The message to Aries Moon Man is, “Lighten up.”

Your way of showing your emotions and your care or concern is different to your partner’s – this can mean you both end up giving each other what you don’t want.

So while you both put effort in, it fails to hit the right notes as you are misinterpreting the real needs of the other. You need attention and you will get it from your partner and yet you may feel they do not appreciate fully what you stand for and what you are saying.

There is attraction and mutual respect, you are not miles apart by any means and yet you have difficulty fulfilling each others' needs and expectations.

This combination has a great deal of good chemistry and attraction. Especially with Libra where it is more pronounced and even more involving.

This match generates excitement as the differences between you create interest and intrigue and you are curious to discover more and eager to make the relationship work.

He may be unaccustomed to the way you tackle life, but he quite likes the possibilities for change you bring.

You can rub each other up the wrong way and there are certainly upsets and clashes as you both struggle to assert yourselves and steer the relationship.

You both have habits and behaviors that jar with each other and there will be some things about each other than may be deal breakers if they begin to dominate the personality.

There are frustrations and irritations, but these tend to flare up rather than be ever-present and that is why you can get over hurdles. There is always enough excitement and common ground to allow you to mend bridges.

This combination often gives rise to jealousy or rivalry, as you guys tend to compete – you may compete to be top dog in career or to get the most attention from the kids and this competition can get out of hand.

It is worth remembering Billy Joel's song, "I love you just the way you are!" and to try living up to that sentiment.

The match with Libra is the least problematic as there is a give and take with compromise coming out of discussion and experience.

The attraction is also mutual and the ties that develop are strong and binding.

You can get drawn into this relationship despite yourself and you may find it hard to walk away,

Aries Moon Man with Air Signs

(Air Signs Gemini and Aquarius)

No matter what the other factors in your charts, this combination boosts compatibility and happiness together.

There is the same mutual sympathy and understanding as with the fire signs but a little more variation to enable you to learn from each other and to make this interesting.

This combination brings romance and friendship along with team work. Communication is enhanced, you tend to socialize together and enjoy similar subjects

This combination is great for long term relationships and brings happiness and romance; but what's more it encourages self-learning and some gentle changes which will enhance both your lives.

You will both compliment and support each other. Aries Moon Man will relax you and put you at ease.

This combination creates a great deal of activity and some restlessness, you are less likely to fall into complacency as with the fire sign combo.

You may already have been friends for a while or perhaps you know each other's via siblings. You are pretty au fait with your partner's lifestyle and you are both people who enjoy variety.

This placement assists in communication, especially about feelings, rather than just superficial chatter.

It deepens the intellectual side of relationships and increases emotional rapport. Your partner enjoys sharing emotions with you and you are able to comfort them.

You enjoy the way your partner thinks and reasons things out and even if you do not quite get them intellectually you intuitively understand where they are coming from.

This placement bodes well for marriage, as let's face it, one thing that many marriage people complain about is that their partner does not listen to and understand them and that will not be the case here.

The camaraderie and friendship aspect of your love is powerful and it is what pulls you together.

You enjoy spending time together and are good friends and you accept each other, partly because you are part of the same 'set'.

This is a good relationship from the get go and you will hit it off. You may both introduce each other to interesting and helpful people and networking is certainly part of your lifestyle.

Your relationship is hinged on having many mutual aims which could include humanitarian or political aims and you tend to move in similar circles. If one of you is less committed to the joint goal or becomes disenchanted with it at some stage and drifts into another sphere, this can have important ramifications for the relationship.

The health of the love affair is somewhat dependent on your both continuing to have similar interests, friends and lifelong aims.

Aries Moon Man with Taurus, Virgo, Scorpio and Pisces

These are the trickier combinations for Aries Moon Man as you will not share commonality in terms of emotional responses and Aries Moon Man may find you insensitive or uncaring.

There can be many hurt feelings as you misunderstand each other and even if you try and show care, you may not do it in a way that Aries Moon Man will readily understand or respond to.

This match can work and yet it is not reliable. There may not be chemistry and if you do argue, you may not be drawn back together as you could be impatient with each other and less willing to extend an olive branch.

These matches do have a connection despite the fact that Aries Moon Man does not share a modality or element with these signs.

The pull together is often subconscious. You have psychological similarities and may be able to bring each other security in the face of change.

These combinations can create growth, development of talents and promote mutual success. They may also serve as a catalyst for some much needed psychological development or metamorphosis.

Maybe because you are so different, you can see each other with a special kind of clarity and can provide objectify. You will not get sucked his narrative – you can give him a new narrative and thus a new take on his life.

These signs will not pander to Aries Moon Man, they will nudge or even cajole him and while that will get his hackles up; it may be just what he needs.

These combinations have to work harder at understanding and working together as it may not come naturally as there is always much to disagree about and Aries Moon Man is pretty stubborn.

However, you can get into a groove where you work it out and from there on out things click, or at least you will learn how to resolve or avoid differences.

Phases of the Moon

Aries with Aries Moon

When an Aries (Sun) Man also has an Aries Moon, then he was born in the New Moon Phase, this heightens his spontaneity and he will like to fly by the seat of his pants.

He thrives when life is dynamic and is not a person to follow a plan, he prefers to follow his heart and this makes him very flexible and adaptable, but also quite unpredictable. He is most successful when he is spur of the moment.

He looks at life as one endless stream of potential and he is quite adventurous. He likes to live moment to moment and is not a person who looks back or dwells.

He may have a terrible memory partly because the past is just not important to him.

He is good at knowing what to do especially in times of crisis when facts are thin on the ground and when one must rely on instinct and gut feel.

He may be great at finding places even without a map and may enjoy off road biking or rallying or hiking where he is alone in the wilderness and must use his instincts to navigate.

He is a natural pioneer and is also very good with equipment, mechanics and engineering.

He can be a little self-absorbed but he has a need to explore his own personality and follow his heart wherever it takes him.

He loves life, but is not the most sensitive guy and can be a little reckless with the feelings of others. The say a rolling stone gathers no moss and Aries with Aries Moon can fail to nurture relationships and be a good listener or companion as he is so busy looking for his next adventure.

His motto is 'nothing ventured nothing gained' and he does not mind making mistakes as he backs himself to be able to fight back – but can you handle his mistakes and misadventures?

His sex drive is high and yet he is not great at foreplay. He is a romantic because he believes in true love in its purest sense and yet he is not a 'candlelit dinner' and roses kinda guy.

Taurus with Aries Moon

When a Taurus man has Aries Moon, he is born in the Balsamic Natal Phase, this is a highly karmic phase and he will tend to meet many people with whom he has unfinished business in his last life.

It is highly possible that you and he have a past life connection and that can both deepen and complicate your relationship as there will be many lessons to complete from the last life that may not be fully understood in this life – this can lead to a feeling of being out of control and tossed about by fate.

Taurus Men with Aries Moon often have brief but very intense relationships with friends and lovers – often these relationships are more about closing a chapter opened in a past life than starting a new chapter in this life.

This tends to be very confusing for him and for those he becomes close to; but it may be good to let the relationship run its course and try and understand how it can provide completion for both of you.

This Moon position enhances the natural psychic ability of Taurus and he may have premonitions about events.

This Moon Phase intensifies the Aries Moon's feeling of being special. Taurus Aries Moon Man may have felt different as a child and he could have perceived a special purpose for his life that was unique.

Many Aries Moon Men are the black sheep of the family, especially with this Balsamic Natal Moon Phase. He is not scared to go it alone or to be an outsider, he will follow the road less trodden. His talents are in his ability to spot what is most critical in any situation and to find solutions.

Dealing with and resolving his past (in this life) and settling differences with his family is key to his wellbeing and ability to develop good love relationships.

At times he chases his tail and cannot tell the wood from the trees and at other times he is profound in his understanding.

He may follow a calling; he is often attracted to causes which are larger than himself.

When he has the bit between his teeth nothing can stop him as he is intensely determined. He is very practical and can be a high achiever as he knows how to manage people and also tends to know what he wants.

He has a powerful desire nature and can be quite acquisitive. He makes an excellent lover as he tends to be talented in bed.

His passions run high and that can lead to great worldly success, but at times he may experience self-destructive cycles where he self-sabotages and experiences great frustration.

He does have an explosive temper as Taurus and Aries are both signs that must express anger; but he also has the ability to get angry on behalf of others and fight for their cause too.

He may be highly fussy and territorial. He is very persuasive and so watch out for that.

Gemini with Aries Moon

When a Gemini is born with an Aries Moon, they are born at the last quarter natal phase of the moon. This is a time synonymous with endings and a winding down; the Moon is waning towards the sun.

This combination often leads to a crisis – a personal cross roads where decisions must be made and choices between individuality and identification with the group or peers.

There is often great pressure to conform and that battle rages as the Aries Moon wants to be independent.

Gemini with Aries Moon Man often turns away from the status quo and can be quite bohemian in his choices. This guy, is often attuned to the trends and feelings in society which have not yet bubbled up onto the surface.

He is ahead of his time and often an early adopter of technology or ideas. He can be quite a radical thinker and yet he can also be more influenced by his friends, usually new friends, than he would like to think.

This Aries Moon craves what is new and is ready to walk away from situations which he feels a disconnect with. The need for change is great and his loyalty cannot be assured.

He is very restless and hard to satisfy – he may perpetually feel that there is greener grass somewhere and he has to find it. He can be an insatiable lover who is quite exhausting. He hardly ever finishes what he starts.

He needs time alone and plenty of rest as he become easily stressed. Sleep often helps him clear his head and gain perspective.

While he loves people, he may not be easy to get to know. He calls everyone a friend, but does he ever develop any of these friendships at a deep level?

He may be obsessed with being among company and networking, and he may lose himself in a social whirl, forgetting what is important or perhaps he never really knew what was important.

What you see may not be what you get as he is an actor with many masks. After much ado and after many years, he finally emerges like a butterfly with colourful wings that tell you, you never really knew him at all.

He is a multi-tasker and workaholic – speed is often sacrificed for accuracy as he is always in a rush.

He may only be interested in his own opinion and he often expect double in exchange for whatever he has done for you – you could call him an emotional loan shark who demands a high rate of interest back on his love.

He is often a disruptive influence as he gets bored fast and likes to stir things up.

He rushes into things and so you may have to be the one to pump the brakes and think, “Hold on, it this what he really wants or is he getting carried away with the moment!”

Cancer with Aries Moon

This combination often leads to a battle between the old and the new. The impetus for success and achievement is great and yet new chapters often come amidst crisis.

There is often a freedom closeness dilemma where the Cancerian man with Aries Moon attracts the very sort of women who do not want to settle down, when he does. He may be hopelessly attracted to commitment phobes.

There is a constant searching for ways to create meaning in life and a new set of values that make sense. This Aries Moon Man has a strong urge for a family life and yet he may take many years to settle down and find the Right One to nest with.

The push for achievement and to make his mark on the world is powerful and he may put career first in the early stages of his life.

At times he will be very quiet, as if he is in a world of his own. He likes to have his own space to ponder and think, and he may not always want to share.

No matter what is going on on the inside, he knows how to put on his game face and present with confidence to the world.

He needs space and time to find himself and if pressured to conform, he may just rebel.

This is a headstrong, driven combination, which can be more difficult to understand, as their emotional nature is under construction, especially when they are young.

He may feel misunderstood and yet that is simply because he does not fully understand or accept himself and he feels that reflected by society.

He may be an over achiever always looking to prove himself and that desire reflect a deep insecurity that can make getting on with him hard as he can never settle and just enjoy life, he is very career driven and this can take priority.

He can set impossible standards for himself and in trying to be all things to all people he may become moody and depressed.

He is however highly trustworthy and constant in his affections. He makes a tender and committed partner who is amorous. He loves to know that his partner is here to support him and cheer him on.

You must encourage him to stick with his projects as he can throw things all away in an emotional outburst.

You may discover a certain attitude he has where he comes over as self-important; and he may want you to put him on a pedestal.

He is very demanding of your attention. He is generally very polite and may have good social skills and yet it is easy to run him up the wrong way if you make fun of him or tease him in public.

He may take himself very seriously and not like joking about himself and never about money.

He is high spirited and social and he enjoys initiating activities for his friends. He loves to entertaining.

Leo with Aries Moon

Leo with Aries moon are born at the disseminating phase of the moon. This Aries Moon Man leaves a lasting impression on everyone. People remember his face, even if they have only met him once.

You can walk into an airport in Timbuktu and some guy will cone over shake his hand and say, "Hi Bob."

He is great at interacting with all kinds of people and his ideas tend to be accepted and to take off. He often fails to think before he acts and he can jump in the deep end.

He is highly objective and always seems to see the big picture. He is generous and forgiving.

He finds leading natural and he needs to have some scope in his life for leadership and expression of executive power or he can become sulky and resentful.

His attitude to life is expansive and he adores being first, his competitive streak may at times get you down, but, hey, everyone loves a winner and he tends to win.

He can be a bit of a clown, and he loves to make others laugh: at him or with him, it's all good. If a GSOH is top of your list, Leo with Aries moon fits the bill.

He is highly opinionated and loves to have pet causes to espouse. He can be dogmatic and he may dislike it when you disagree with something he feels strongly about.

Overkill is his specialty - he can labor the point at times. He is a very moral guy with high standards and yet he may exhaust himself and waste time getting involved in battles of a political or social nature which land him in hot water - he does have what I call a 'crusader complex'.

He has moral courage and a social conscience and this can be at the root of many of his pet causes.

Although loyal and dependable, he can be bossy. He is a dreamer, but he is also pro-active about getting stuck in to make those dreams a reality. He love to travel and so invest in some quality portmanteau.

He does not tend to bottle up and so he will harbour few emotional issues – he finds it easy to talk about almost anything and can see his problems in a philosophical light.

He may enjoy sports or study as a way of working through any of the more antagonistic emotions he feels – Aries Moon always have some anger bubbling away about something.

He will pursue his career with great vigor as he desires social standing. He often speaks before he thinks and is not the most sensitive about the feelings of others, although being a Leo, he is sensitive to any comment or activity which wounds his pride or makes him look small.

Aries Moon Man with Leo Sun is very committed and will see things through right to the bitter end as he is tenacious.

He often allows passions to dominate and can make bad decisions when his heart is pulling him in one direction.

He is an impulsive lover, who falls in love fast and loves to impress you with his knowledge and tales of his travels.

He is impetuous and may need you to stop him in the nick of time with some sage advice. He is a great one for giving advice and never being able to take it.

Virgo with Aries Moon

This Sun, Aries Moon combination is all about communication and completion, and of all the combinations this brings more determination and diligence to the often impulsive Aries Moon.

Aries Moon Virgoes are natural and effervescent communicators who enjoy debate, as well as teaching others facts and skills. He can convey ideas with enthusiasm and is good at capturing attention.

He has a very definite purpose in life and is incredibly honest and direct. He has a strong desire to improve the life of those around him in practical ways.

He is very good at scientific and technical matters and may develop sporting skills to a high degree.

His nature is to investigate tenaciously and to uncover what is obscure. He seeks to regenerate and come up with solutions and new ideas or approaches to problems.

He is eager to educate others from the perspective of his own experience.

He is a very helpful person and yet can be very single minded and a little too narrow. He is all about self-improvement and can be a health and fitness fanatic.

He may be quite unemotional, this stems from the practical way in which he likes to approach problems.

He can become frustrated when others do not follow his advice – he tends to want to control and micromanage the lives of those he knows, for their own good of course, but control always tends to be annoying even when it is supposedly for your own good.

He needs to learn to let things go as he can obsess.

This Aries Moon Man tends to be the hero in his dreams who sweeps in and rescues the damsel in distress and this is the way he likes to see himself – but is this who he is or who he wants to be?

In real life his caution and need to be reasonable and considered mean he often does not live up to this heroic self-image.

He does need to accept who he is and be the best he can be rather than being someone he never was in the first place.

This is one of the more humble and modest of the Aries Moons and he will have a few knock backs as he goes through life.

He suffers a lot of internal tension and there is this push-pull internal conflict that creates much indecision.

His Aries Moon nature is so aggressive, courageous and gutsy and yet his Virgo Sun is very conservative, modest and reticent, he contains within him total opposites, you can see why he is churned up inside.

He thrives on a challenge and on hard work – he works diligently when set a target or given a task. He enjoys tough mental and artistic challenges and can apply himself to these with zeal. He aims to impress.

Extreme anger and the desire to retaliate and get his own back are some of his more negative traits - he takes life a little too seriously at times. His honesty and his rather brutal assessments of others can be unpalatable to some, but these things do have to be said by someone.

He is at his best when he has had rest and is having fun.

He needs to be careful of who he works with as he unconsciously picks up the negative traits of people he either works with or spends much time with.

Libra with Aries Moon

This Aries Moon Man is born at full moon and this is a phase of completion. He is driven and purposeful, he enjoys team work and is definitely not a commitment phobe; he will probably seek to marry young.

He likes to get on with things and is very good at both starting projects and seeing things through – which you cannot say for all Aries Moon combinations.

He is an idealist and will spend a lot of time searching for meaning in life.

His life may have several phases or gear shifts where he pursues very different goals. He tends to change his mind often.

He can be quite angry, unlike the balanced Libran one expects. At times he can be very out of balance indeed and during these phases he is very difficult to be around.

His relationships can be love hate, where he swings from satisfaction to frustration. Love life is often the space where he is more volatile. He may struggle to incorporate his feminine side and may become too Alpha at the expense of more receptive emotions.

On the other hand, he could go totally the opposite way and be an old softy who allows his woman to walk all over him – there tends to be no happy medium. Relations with women can be stormier than with men.

While relationships are important to him, he needs to be more aware of the effect his words and actions have on his partner and on the atmosphere of the relationship.

His standards and expectations in love can be impossibly high.

He does have a habit of playing Devil's advocate and when conversations become dull he will either walk off or inject some controversy to stir things up.

He tends to be easily distracted and he needs to focus his energy on specific goals to get more from his extraordinary talents.

He excels in running or managing his own business as business requires a large skill set and attention to be applied to numerous activities and that suits him.

He loves managing people and he enjoys having house guests.

He tends to be somewhat of a ringleader who thrives on having an entourage to either manage or look after. He enjoys family life.

Even when he looks relaxed he is plotting – his mind never stops. He finds it hard to switch off. He likes to aim high and life is one long set of goals and stars to aim for.

He can be guilty of making too much of past failures and he may allow the past to haunt him in more ways than one.

He aims to fill his life with activity and he often gets involved in things or with people and then regrets it. He can overpromise and saddle himself with unwanted obligations.

While he is a people person, he has to take them in small doses as they annoy him. He does not suffer fools gladly. You may find yourself making his excuses for him.

Morose and self-pity can be a symptom of over work; he needs rest and the calming influence of positive yet easy going people to soothe his often anxious personality.

Scorpio with Aries Moon

This combination represents the Gibbous Natal Phase, which is quite change orientated – he is a work in progress and may change quite radically while you are with him.

He is very experimental and likes to try new things. He is quite volatile and enjoys pushing boundaries in love.

I mentioned before that Aries Moon are not compromising and like to dominate in love and this is very true of Scorpio with Aries Moon, and so you have to be a strong person to handle this very strong personality.

Scorpio Men with Aries Moon are highly unpredictable and can often cut off their own nose to spite their face in order to prove a point.

He can be extremely deliberate and yet he is not very self-aware and so his actions can lack perspective. He is very spontaneous and yet not always cautious enough and yet he tends to fall on his feet.

This is a highly persuasive sign who is very good at playing tricks with your mind.

This Moon Sun combination can be your biggest ally and will fight your corner, but do not cross him!

His key drives in life are to understand things at a deeper level and to express his emotions and be understood by others – which is a hard thing to achieve as he is rather hard to understand.

His constant self-questioning and self-criticism can lack any relation to reality and his need for reassurance is constant.

He can be extremely supportive and attentive and yet he expects a lot from you emotionally and can be draining – you have to have time away from him as he can be too intense or intrusive.

He is driven to be productive and could be a workaholic. He is always writing notes and doing diaries to keep track of how he is doing and it never seems to be enough.

He puts himself under a great deal of pressure and never appears to find a happy medium where he can just sit back and relax.

Once again, he is a work in progress and is always looking for ways to better himself or make his life more relevant.

He may have an inflated sense of his own importance and could be entitled. His views can be extreme.

Self-analysis is vital for him to define where he 'fits in'. He has great strength and will never lose his inner confidence. He is very sexy and that is down to this fire burning inside which women can sense even if he is not conventionally attractive.

He can get too involved in things he cannot change and needs to develop more detachment.

No matter how many friends he has, he will always be a loner, but he has a special slot in his heart for that special person.

Sagittarius with Aries Moon

This is a playful and inquisitive placement. This represents the gibbous phase which brings a desire for perfection and also enquiry.

He is a thinker who likes to look for linkages and to analyse events.

He is smart and quick witted and yet he may be emotionally immature and while he knows a lot, he may not understand much.

He can be very impatient about emotional matters and gets bored with long discussions; he is not a big fan of drawn out deep and meaningful conversations.

This guy likes to try and understand things, including you and he is observant and curious – he asks lots of questions, I am not sure if he always waits for the answers.

He likes to analyse things from all angles and his conclusions are both logical and intuitive. He may be a big fan of crosswords, chess and other puzzles to keep his analytical mind active.

Few other Sun Moon combinations are as brash and outspoken and he has very few inhibitions, which can make him liberating to know, but he could easily be too hot and spicy for some.

He will follow his star in spite of what others think and that is certainly an attractive trait in a boyfriend when we are young, but as a wife we tend to see things differently.

Like other Aries Moon and Sun combinations, he demands honesty and he speaks his mind. His expectations can be high and he gets bored fast. It can be a rush to keep up with him, he is always darting in a new direction.

He is very adventurous and often dives in head first to new ventures.

He acts first and thinks later. He is a great sales person, he really does talk the talk but rarely does he walk the walk.

He can exaggerate and although he seems to know what he is talking about, it may be all hot air. He enjoys risk, even though he will rationalise that risk when he speaks about it to you.

He may read voraciously or follow sports or foreign affairs in depth – he gets avidly involved in matters that inspire him.

He has confidence as both parents gave him the go ahead and fostered his independent, adventurous side. He can be arrogant and he may like to show off.

He has an excellent sense of humour and loves to entertain others and make them laugh. He is an eternal optimist who sees the upside and is highly future orientated.

He makes a great comedian as he has this knack of uncovering and then pointing out uncomfortable truths and hypocrisy.

He is a generous guy and he loves to socialise and enjoy life – he lives life to the full, but can also be a bit of a handful.

He is never happy to accept answers; he goes looking for answers that make sense to him. His key phrase is WHY?

Capricorn with Aries Moon

This combination represents the first quarter moon. This is a challenging placement that brings about crisis.

Your Aries Moon Capricorn Man struggles to manage his energy and make the best of situations. He is very good at adapting to new situations and tends to be at his best when life is in turmoil.

His parents were very different and while one encouraged his playful and adventurous side the other one was a disciplinarian who had a more austere and restrictive approach – this can leave him confused and often ambivalent about what approach to take.

His head and heart are always doing battle and that creates confusion. He can come over as abrupt and his overt actions are often selfish and inconsiderate.

He struggles to know what the ‘right thing’ to do it. He is a true Capitalist as he believes in personal responsibility and that people should stand on their own two feet – he has no time for laziness and inaction. He is an extremely capable and driven person, who enjoys hard work and who is very committed to goals. He may not socialise much as he is always too busy and he could feel awkward in social settings as he is not quite sure where he fits in.

He is a family man who takes responsibility seriously. He tends to step up to the plate – “When the going gets tough, the tough get going...”

He is good at making split second decisions and can cope with emergencies – he is good at dealing with emotions and his emotional intelligence is well developed.

He may enjoy home decorating, DIY or making radical changes to your home – he always has some project on the go, and is very ambitious when it comes to your family life and having the ideal home.

He is no Luddite and change excites him as he likes to be on the edge of new developments and will not be afraid of uprooting himself or his family to make a positive change.

He is a pioneer, a man of new pastures and he likes to save the day – he is someone to rely on and he will rarely let you down. He enjoys doing things as an individual and he thrives as a leader. He can be a little authoritarian and quite the sergeant major at times.

He often pre-empts changes by doing something before the need actually arises – he gets a whiff of something in their air and quickly looks to adapt, even if you may think, “If it ain’t broke why fix it?” He is always in a state of readiness – he may be like a boy scout, “Always prepared.”

He tends to be faithful, but you may feel like he is having an affair with his work as that is so important to him.

Even though he is an earth sign, Capricorn; you may not get on with him if you are earth (Taurus, Virgo or Capricorn) or fixed (i.e. Taurus, Aquarius, Scorpio or Leo) as you may not like the way he tends to disrupt the status quo.

He is not very tender or emotionally responsive and he may be rather staccato in the bedroom rather than being legato – i.e. smooth and slow. He demands respect and he can be quite traditional about his Patriarchal role in the family.

He may work as a paramedic, in ER, in crisis management or mergers and acquisitions.

Aquarius with Aries Moon

This combination represents the crescent natal moon phase. His greatest urge is freedom and independence. He is a free spirit and nothing can contain him.

He could be an atheist or agnostic or perhaps he will embrace scientology – he both shuns religion and also seeks it as he is interested in belief systems.

This guy may be a maverick or a highly individual person with a unique style. He may have many admirers as his attitude is modern, exciting and alluring. Sometimes however, he is the oddball who is socially awkward and who no one knows how to take.

He may struggle when younger to know who he is and what he wants. He is very highly strung and need both mental and physical outlets to burn off nervous energy.

This guy has great talents and yet he is often too restless to develop them and his impulsiveness and desire to rebel often work against him.

While he loves people, this love of people is a little theoretical as they tend to annoy him and he is no team player – he is more likely to disrupt a group or try to change it to suit his purposes.

He is highly individualistic and while he is an ideas person he can have a ‘my way or the highway’ attitude that does not allow him to accept feedback, and so many of his ideas remain pet projects that he is so protective of, he cannot fully develop.

He enjoys confronting life head on and he likes to change minds and attitudes – he is often involved in movements and social projects as he likes to be involved in things he sees as bigger than himself, until he realises that he needs to unite with others and then he gets cold feet and walks away.

This Aries Moon Man is a bit of a commitment phoebe, as soon as the pressure gets too much he walks away or runs away. He cannot stand be boxed in and he resents and resists situations which may tie him down or limit his potential.

He is a man of habits and rituals and his likes are quite specific. While he acts rebelliously, he is probably more tied to the past or tradition than he realises.

The challenge for him is to break patterns of thinking and habits, and in that way to open up opportunities.

He is more intellectual than emotional and will fall in love with a woman who is a paring partner, who can hold her own in debate with him and can turn him on with her wit, perspicacity and charm. He enjoys sex a great deal and quite likes some surprises in the bedroom.

He may need to get away from the place he grew up and the education system he was schooled in to find true freedom – he often rejects parts of his past or upbringing.

Some of his family members may be key in keeping him trapped in the past. You may not get on with his siblings as you represent the future and they the past – they may resent your influence on him.

Help him to believe in himself and talk to him about emotional and family matters. He is very sentimental and quite likes traditional romantic gestures.

Pisces with Aries Moon

This combination represents the New Moon Natal Phase. This guy is restless and changeable; he can adapt fast and blend into many different situations.

He gets on well with most people and yet can experience a rapid turnover of friends. He lives moment to moment and takes life as it comes. He may not be a good planner. He does not let the past dictate to him.

He is charming and he is very good at getting what he wants as he reads others well. He appears to be easy going and yet he is actually very determined to get his own way.

He could get your wrapped around his little finger – he may have already done that with his parents.

He is after comfort and he is very good at getting a result from minimal effort – he is ambitious and yet does not want to get his hands dirty as much as with the other Aries Moon combos.

He is a dark horse, as his shy Piscean subtlety hides a fiery and demanding Aries core.

He has the sensitivity and compassion of Pisces and yet his Aries Moon means that he matches words with deeds and can be highly decisive when he is emotionally engaged in something.

He has strong intuitive capabilities and gut feel and he uses these to navigate life rather than conscious and logical reasoning.

He likes to keep it simple and does not like anything long winded or protracted. He likes to dive into new experiences and explore different relationships, careers and places with freedom.

He is very charismatic and you will soon realise that he is all about soft power, he knows how to approach a situation and who to trust.

He is very open to new things and to people and he is interested in their story. He is easy to get on with, but you may not know him as well as you think you do.

He is very open emotionally and he can become confused as he is bombarded with signals both emotional, psychic and in terms of regular communication.

He may seem unreliable as he changes his mind frequently and often makes excuses and slides away when he feels trapped.

He likes to feel his way along and is not great in situations where something very specific is expected of him.

He is a kind and generous person who supports the underdog and he has strong empathetic and charitable instincts. But, he is still Aries Moon and he tends to be generous after he has attended to his own needs first.

He can be rather clever in putting what he wants at the top of the agenda while pretending it is what is best for others.

He is searching for his place in this world and he wants to feel he is making a difference. He projects his emotions well, which means he may find his role in acting; work which is people intensive; or is personally challenging.

He craves attention and is probably a chatterbox; he enjoys company and loves to hang out with friends or have people coming to stay.

If he is vulnerable or emotionally damaged, he can use his emotional intelligence to negatively manipulate people around him.

He may be a bit of a drama queen.

Aries Moon Man and You

This section is all about how your star sign and Aries Moon Man get on, please read your Sun Sign, but if you know your Ascendant or Moon sign you can also read those in conjunction with Aries Moon Man – so there are potentially three sections which apply.

Aries Moon Man with Aries Woman

Aries Moon man is immediately attracted to women who are Aries and also those who have Aries Rising or an Aries Moon.

He loves the enthusiasm of Aries and you both respond to each other fast, racing off to do things and to have a very active dating experience. Romance is high on the agenda as you are both true romantics at heart who love to bring a little magic into life.

What you guys love about each other is that you rarely use the word NO; indeed you are both up for anything and see life as one big playground. There is a childlike enthusiasm for living which you both have, which keeps you young and alive no matter how old you get. Aries is a sign that rarely gets cynical or jaded and who always appreciates that life is a giant mystery in which anything can happen at any time and so hope should never be lost.

If you are Aries, the Aries Moon Man has a natural affinity with you, he will be attracted to you before you to him. Aries is a very headstrong sign and you guys will clash and fight as you are both very strong willed.

There is a fine balance to be struck, as while he likes your spirit and your assertiveness, he can quickly become angry when he feels bossed around and this is like a red rag to a bull. Flare ups and fights come on very suddenly with this combination and yet since you both appreciate some clearing of the air, they pass quickly like a summer thunder storm and you are ready for some summer lovin' again.

He will care for you and protect you as you arouse his protective instincts.

This is a very positive combination and yet there may be little restraint and little doubt – you may both to too sure of what can be done and may not think things through.

Sexually you are compatible and emotionally you can get close; but you will always compete with each other to be top dog as you are both natural leaders. You, as the woman will end up with the upper hand in this love match, as over time Aries Moon Man become more compromising.

If other placements in your charts are peace and harmony loving i.e. Libra, Pisces, Gemini; then the arguing, which is part and parcel of this combination, may get too much for you after time and you may walk away even though the sex and passion are still there.

You both have very strong opinions and if you can both temper this with diplomacy and kindness, this relationship can be highly successful as you both respond with eagerness when tenderness and a forgiving hand is outstretched.

You will probably jump right into this relationship and yet you may be best testing out how you get on in a friendship. This partnership survives on its positivity and ability to endure the ups and downs and the knock backs in life, along with your strong desire to protect and nurture each other. There is naturally mutual sympathy and empathy, but patience needs to be developed.

You are both idealists and you will pursue this love affair in spite of people and any other factors that works against you, as the attraction is strong and there magic is there. Your relationship thrives on the fact that you both speak from the heart and act with authenticity. This is a common match to find in couples.

Aries Moon Man with Taurus Woman

Taurus Girl (and this also goes for Taurus Rising and Taurus Moon) tends to like routine and stability and is looking for a man who can make her feel secure.

Aries Moon Man ticks one of those boxes for sure as his ardent manner and drive make Taurus Girl think, “Wow this guy is Mr Right, he can look after me!”

But then he starts to go off and do his own thing and his impulsive and ill thought out actions can make you recoil in horror.

He is also very unpredictable and quite volatile and he storms off and will not explain himself, when you prefer to talk things through. This drives you mad as Taurus adore reason, you like to argue partly because you like to talk things out and work out what went wrong so that things make sense in your head.

Taurus ask questions like, “What made you angry and why?” and you want answers. However, Aries Moon Man thinks it is in his gift to be angry when he wants, so he can blow off steam and does not see the need to explain it all later.

Often his anger is irrational and Taurus hates anything irrational. Aries Moon Man may use both anger and impulsive behaviour to assert his freedom.

Aries Moon Man may find Taurus Girl a little too restrictive in that you prefer to plan and are not always that impulsive. In general Taurus are not impulsive at all, unless they have a Uranus square or Aries Moon as well, and so this side of him may impress you when dating, but annoy you in a more permanent relationship.

He wants to suddenly grab a taco and go to the movies and you have a chicken at home defrosting for dinner.

You are both however down to earth characters and you love the Aries fire and enthusiasm as it makes you feel confident, which is something Taurus often lack earlier in life. He can help you find the adventurer within and he makes your life more exciting.

You can help him to be more patient and to focus some of that natural energy he has. A Taurus woman is warm, affectionate and caring and that is PERFECT for Aries Man as his mother lacked those qualities and he can become addicted to you as you find it so easy to be tactile and loving.

You are also sympathetic to his needs and less likely to tell him to, "Grow up and get on with it!" You make a great team as you are both practical and you enjoy the simple things in life. You can be very happy together and yet you have very different ways of expressing needs and also very different ways of arguing; Aries Moon Man gets angry fast and Taurus tends to brood and store things up for a big fat explosion.

This will never change and remains a bone of contention.

Taurus Girl can help Aries Moon Man to be happier with himself and to find peace and stability, you make him more relaxed and content and he relies on more than you know.

He brings you energy and also wakes you up to new possibilities and stops you from becoming complacent and self-satisfied.

Aries Moon Man with Gemini Woman

Gemini Girl (and this also goes for Gemini Rising and Gemini Moon) and Aries Moon Man with snap each other up! Yes, their eyes meet over the dance floor or the bank lobby and they are immediately attracted.

Gemini Girl loves the va va voom and energy of Aries Moon Man and they sense they are going to have fun together. This pair are great friends and dating is just one long party.

You may feel like you have known each other for ages and you understand each other's sense of humour and you both have a very youthful je ne sais quoi that endears you to each other.

Gemini has the effect of encouraging Aries Moon Man and spurring him on and yet both of you have little restraint and so you may go quite wild together – enough is never enough and you don't know when to stop.

Gemini Girl is keen to pursue the relationship and yet Aries Moon Man may see Gemini Girl as a great friend who he loves the company of and yet whom he does not see a future with.

Aries Moon Man is unsure how he feels about Gemini girl's indecisiveness – he likes a woman who knows what she wants and is driven. Now if Gemini girl has fire signs within her, that will greatly help the relationship develop over a long period.

Gemini change their mind a lot and that can discombobulate Aries Moon Man who likes certainly and definitive goals.

Gemini are non-confrontational and Aries Moon Man loses his temper and likes to clear the air with some robust exchanges. Gemini Girl may not enjoy the Aries unpredictability in terms of his emotional nature.

Sure, Gemini love variety and change and yet Gemini like to stay pretty even tempered and cool emotionally and the heat of the Aries Moon's emotions can be disconcerting. Aries Moon Man loves a partner to be direct and Gemini are often evasive and illusive which troubles Aries Moon Man and he may feel that he is very much in the dark about Gemini Girl's true nature.

Perception is a problem in this love match as often you get the totally wrong idea about what each other wants or intends.

Gemini are not good at talking about emotions and although they are great communicators they rarely talk about feelings.

Aries Moon Man cannot keep anything private and he talks about everything, he may wonder why Gemini Girl does not open up more.

This relationship has potential, but maybe you should focus on the friendship side and keep it casual at first to see if you can develop emotional compatibility.

You tend to trigger the restlessness and recklessness in each other and that brings plenty of exhilaration, but could also make settling down to a routine difficult.

Aries Moon understands what Gemini Girl wants from life and can help her get it; Gemini Girl needs to be able to get serious and make decisions, if you keep avoiding taking the lead, Aries Moon Man will feel insecure.

The health of the love affair is somewhat dependent on you both continuing to have similar interests, friends and lifelong aims.

This is a very good aspect for a lasting relationship with a solid base of friendship and respect.

Aries Moon Man and Cancer Woman

This section can also apply to Aries Moon Man with Cancer Rising or a Cancer moon girl. This combination tends to work well as Cancer is a cardinal sign and with that comes an ability to initiate and take control and that gets Aries Moon Man thinking, “Aha, this feels good.”

Cancer Girl also has that ability to nurture, which Aries Moon Man may have lacked in youth and he will be like a pussy cat with you as you are able to make him feel secure and needed.

Cancer Girl is emotional and yet you are able to direct that emotional power in constructive ways; you recognise that same emotional intensity in Aries Moon Man and can help him make more sense of his emotions and channel them productively.

Aries Moon Man and Cancer Girl both like to put down roots and both of you have strong family values.

Aries Moon respects the vital role that family and heritage play in Cancer Girl's life and Cancer Girl senses a strength in Aries Moon Man that makes her confident that he will be a good provider and protector.

Cancerians are organisers and Aries Moon Man tends to be quite random and he needs a calming influence that adds focus to his desires and actions.

You both sense a strength in each other and while Cancer Girl is more considered and sensible, Aries Moon Man needs that soberness to help him develop emotional maturity.

Cancerians love the innocence of children and Cancer Girl will sense some of that same innocence in Aries Moon Man and will find it very appealing.

Cancer Girl will not enjoy the explosive nature of Aries Moon Man, but she can hold her own, of that I am sure. However Aries Moon Man needs to curb some of his anger and learn to respect the fact that Cancer Girl is sensitive and vulnerable.

Cancer Girl needs to be careful of not trying to dampen the Aries Moon enthusiasm and spirit with criticism and complaining.

Cancer girl can be emotionally demanding which is great as Aries Moon Man has plenty of emotional energy to spare and so the neediness of Cancer girl can be overcome; but Cancer Girl has to know that her methods of dealing with emotional pain i.e. moodiness, sulking, seclusion and some brooding can over time dim the hopeful spark Aries Moon Man has and make him a more cynical creature, which does not bode well for his overall well-being.

These are two motivated characters who have a big appetite for life, but Cancer Girl is more conscious in the way she pursues goals and Aries Moon Man is more impulsive.

You are a good balance for each other and yet you also compete for control as you are both inclined to leadership. Over time Cancer can wrestle control from the Aries Moon Man, but you have to be careful not to suppress his anger and drive it inside where it becomes depression.

Cancer Girl admires Aries Moon Man and she would have noticed him right away, paradoxically Cancer Girl may look to change the very things that first attracted her to him.

You can bond at a very deep level and this relationship may last many decades.

Aries Moon Leo Woman

This section can also apply to Aries Moon Man with Leo Rising or a Leo Moon girl. Here we have a cardinal fire influence in Aries Moon Man and a Fixed Fire influence in Leo Girl.

The attraction is instant, although perhaps you were actively competing with each other for a job or for attention when you first came into contact. You may have noticed each other and thought, “Hey, you, get offa my cloud!” In other words you were both after the same thing and treading on each other’s toes. Rivalry can quickly turn into passion and the respect and admiration and later love.

You both have a big appetite for life and you love to have fun. You are both quick to anger and yet Aries Moon Man has to tread carefully as for all the bravado of Leo Girl, she is quite sensitive and easily wounded and can sulk when her feelings are hurt.

Leo Girl can feel misunderstood by Aries Moon Man, he assumes that what he sees is what he gets i.e. a confident, courageous Leo who stands up for herself, and yet Leo are more complicated than that, they can be far more vulnerable and insecure than they look and Aries Moon Man does not take account of that.

Aries Moon Man's bluntness can wound and hurt Leo Girl and being a fixed sign she will not easily forget when her pride take a blow.

Leo Girl brings a great deal of certainty and resolve to Aries Moon Man; you understand his passion quite well and know how to tame him.

Leo Girl is a definite and sometime a bossy character who goes after what she wants and speaks her mind and Aries Moon Man enjoys this.

You work well as a team especially on creative projects as you are both very enthusiastic people with high energy and a desire to succeed. You may have an awesome team who can be quite intimidating and a force to be reckoned with.

Your relationship can become undynamic and ridged however, as over time things can become like a broken record with you having the same argument over and over and never getting anywhere.

You will always reach out to each other after a fight and you are likely to stay together as you do deal with life well as a team – you are more powerful and confident together and form a strong unit.

Leo Girl may be restless in the relationship as time goes by as Aries Moon Man will always work to satisfy his needs first and you may feel that you have been railroaded into a lifestyle where you are a little stifled and you have to watch out for that and keep pushing for your needs to be met.

Your challenge is to communicate better – things tend to be very, very good or very, very bad and the time to communicate about important issues is when you are relaxed and in a good phase, rather than waiting for a shouting match when nothing gets understood anyway.

The partner who most wants this relationship to succeed is going to be the one to compromise and learn to be adaptable and compassionate – the danger is that the other one may just accept this and take it for granted and if you are the compromising one you will feel undervalued.

One of you, possibly more often the Leo can get lost in this love match – make sure you never give up on your goals and make sure your needs are fulfilled.

Aries Moon Virgo Woman

This section can also apply to Aries Moon Man with Virgo Rising or a Virgo Moon girl. Now here is a pineapple pizza combination; Aries Moon Man has a fiery cardinal influence, while Virgo Moon is earthy and mutable.

He is an initiator who acts now and thinks later and Virgo Moon is a thinker who aims for precision and perfection.

These placements will not lead to attraction or chemistry and those will have to come from other placements in the chart which indicate romance and compatibility.

Aries Moon Man does however love the certainty and honesty of Virgo Girl. You are both very direct and while Virgo Girl will analyse and consider her emotions and Aries Moon Man just feels them like one big rush to the head, there is no doubt that you are both emotionally authentic and there will be no game playing, to use a cricket analogy from the British, you both play things with a straight bat.

Virgo Girl may echo that, “Be strong and pull yourself together” attitude Aries Moon Man remembers from childhood and that reassures him.

These signs are equally straightforward and communication is effective. Aries Moon Man has a strange way of bringing Virgo Girl out of her shell sexually; he may make her feel relaxed and at ease in the bedroom and intimate understanding is very deep.

Virgo Girl has a way of bring out the tender vulnerable side of Aries Moon Man and together they may have a blissful sexual relationship with a good understanding of what turns each other on.

Pillow talk tends to be very revealing and after sex you may share your deepest secrets, desires and fears.

Virgo Girl may be the one who analyses things and helps Aries Moon Man get to the bottom of psychological fears and traumas and you may be the key to him developing greater psychological and sexual awareness. Sex life is both revealing, rewarding and perhaps the time of your greatest togetherness.

You may have different career aims, different friends, different fears, and different ways of dealing with life and yet you have a lot to teach each other and together can experience a very wide spectrum of emotions which lead to more perspective and greater psychological development.

While Aries Moon Man is a free spirit, what keeps his attention is that Virgo Girl is a cool cucumber who he can never quite figure out and he knows she may walk away at any time if she has had enough and that keeps him in check. While the criticism of Cancer tends to dampen the Aries Moon spirit; the criticism of Virgo tends to make Aries Moon Man want to be sharper and better – he takes what you say seriously and wants to improve.

As a couple you love telling stories, so much so that you may even write fiction together.

The Virgo Girl's need for order, planning and detail and the Aries Moon Man's need for spontaneity and freedom mean that domestically you are not compatible and need to have your own areas of the house to express yourselves.

Sex unites you when daily life tends to drive you apart. Virgo Girl must be careful not to over analyse or make everything about logic and practicality as Aries Moon Man is instinctive and he knows that not everything has to make sense to be real.

Aries Moon Libra Woman

This section can also apply to Aries Moon Man with Libra Rising or a Libra Moon girl. If these love matches were films, I would give this one an Oscar as it has so much potential for a loving and lasting love affair.

Libra Girl is drawn to Aries Moon Man like she is under a spell; she is enchanted by him and attracted to his energy and his spirit.

She senses in him marriage material and she is determined to make an honest man of him.

He has the drive and chutzpa she admires in a man and Aries Moon Man feels that Libra Girl is a suitable mate.

Libra Girl can charm and tease him and she is able to make him relaxed and at ease.

They are immediately comfortable together and able to share feelings and affection.

These are both positive and pro-active signs who love to initiative and who are very goal driven.

Libra Girl thrives when she is appreciated and although Aries Moon Man is an ardent lover, he may not always be as tender and as verbal as you would like when it comes to expressing his feelings for you.

Much goes unspoken in this love match – communication is excellent, however emotional matters tend to be understood rather than expressed.

The Libran influence helps Aries Moon Man to balance his energy, you can encourage him to be more considered when he makes decisions and you slow him down and make him more patient.

He in turn can help you to be more decisive and to make up your mind and get into action.

Libra has a maturing influence on Aries Moon Man and you can help him grow up – you have the magic due as you can offer him both love and also certainty as Libra being a cardinal sign is happy to take control.

I see Libra gaining the upper hand in this love match as you are more patient and you see the bigger picture – while Aries Moon Man may win the battles, you win the war.

Librans love harmony and cannot stand arguing and so the fiery temper of the Aries Moon Man could potentially be a problem and yet in practice Libran Girls do not bring out that side of him as much as other signs.

You are not usually a trigger for his anger as you are able to accept his independence as you, as an air sign are quite comfortable with his need for freedom. The famous Libran tact and diplomatic approach are the perfect tools to deal with Aries Moon Man.

These two are soul mates and they share ambition and also the desire for social interaction. You are both motivated individuals with strong personalities; Libra Girl however wants commitment and if Aries Moon man messes her around he will lose out.

Aries Moon Man and Libra Girl are bound to advance this love affair towards marriage as neither wants to lose the other and that eliminates any cold feet in terms of the commitment side. Libran Girl tends to be able to persuade Aries Moon Man to do things he has never done before and you can talk him into most things.

His impulsiveness and your acquisitiveness can mean that unwise financial decisions get made and so I hope there is some Capricorn or Cancer in one of you to provide some thrift.

Aries Moon Scorpio Woman

This section can also apply to Aries Moon Man with Scorpio Rising or a Scorpio Moon girl.

This love match brings together two highly passionate and instinctual individuals, there is immediate chemistry and you are drawn together in lust and love.

This union is not about a considered approach and looking at pros and cons or ticking boxes in terms of what you are looking for in love, this match is about an instant unexplained attraction that can cut through the norms of your dating or romantic rule book, cut across social and economic divides and hit you like a hammer.

You guys may fall in love hard and it may not be easy as your respective friends and family may wonder what has come over you as from the outside this match may look unlikely.

You are both emotionally driven people and indeed you are also romantics who believe in love for love's sake. At a deep level you do have a lot in common.

Your motivations and drives are similar and yet your interests and beliefs could be very different; so there is much to clash over and yet there is also a core fire which you can recognise in each other and this forms part of the attraction.

The problem is that you both have a cast iron will and neither of you want to back down. The Scorpio drive to control Aries Moon Man is frustrated as you cannot control the uncontrollable and the Aries Moon Man's desire to be the Alpha in the relationship is also thwarted as Scorpio will not play second fiddle.

There is a battle for control and power in this love match and that could make it exciting, but it can also make it impossible to live a normal life. You are both high on emotion all the time and it may be exhausting.

Unless you both have strong air elements, and a healthy dose of Venus and Mercury to add some detachment and reason, you may burn each other out.

Over time Scorpio Girl will get the upper hand and yet you have to be careful that you do not crush Aries Moon Man's spirit – he is more fragile than he looks and he does get depressed when he cannot express himself with freedom and spontaneity.

This match works well as a fling or holiday romance, in marriage it is hard work and you may both become unhappy, however paradoxically, you may both hang in there for practical reasons and try to make the marriage work. In this love match it is all about brinkmanship and who is going to blink first.

Aries Moon Man has a big appetite for life and Scorpio Girl is such a magical mystery tour that he can't get enough and even if you clash, he is drawn back to you as you represent a unique challenge.

The brutal honesty of Aries Moon Man will always be a challenge for Scorpio Girl as you are wounded by his angry, ill thought out words and bluntness; but that sting in your tail will have him reeling on many occasions I am sure.

Aries Moon Sagittarius Woman

This section can also apply to Aries Moon Man with Sagittarius Rising or a Sagittarius Moon girl.

Aries Moon Man fancies Sagittarius Girl a treat; he will buy you a drink and you will be laughing right away. He is attracted to your gregarious energy and your positivity.

This is a great match as you are both attracted to adventure and are naturally competitive. You will have no problem getting on and you will be drawing up an exciting wish list of activities from the get go.

Sagittarius are inspired by destiny and their role in life and Aries Moon Man is open to anything religious or mystical and so faith and philosophy may be something which interest you both in different ways.

Both Aries and Sagittarius are inclined to think big and to trust in a plan that is larger than themselves and this may shape your lives together, making you a couple who embrace challenges and who are always seeking new opportunities.

This relationship is unlikely to stagnate and even if you start a family together you will see the ups and down of family life as a thrilling and rewarding challenge.

Aries Moon Man brings out the maternal side in Sagittarius Girl and you are likely to have children together.

At times you try and outdo each other and you are quite competitive in trying to get the attention of mutual friends – it may be a battle to see who is the most popular and you can both be drawn into rather superficial games and ploys.

You both need to be more secure in yourselves and stop trying to see who can be seen as the bigger hero. You are competitive with each other and while that may enhance creativity and promote success it can also lead to boasting and one-upmanship.

This relationship may lack balance and grounding. Sagittarius Girl may find Aries Moon Man too headstrong and lacking in the ability to adapt; while Aries Moon Man may find Sagittarius Girl a little fickle and flighty.

Aries Moon Man knows how to press your buttons and he could make you very angry. There will be arguments and yet there is generally not a bad taste left afterward as you are both keen to make up and get on with life.

You both need freedom and so you should be able to respect that need in each other, there is a great degree of trust, however you both may question how invested the other is in the future of the relationship.

You may both feel that your relationship is a bonfire, which while hot and intense one moment, may die down and peter out when the next day dawns.

Sagittarius Girl likes to look to the future and may brush things under the carpet, while Aries Moon Man likes to confront emotional issues head on and he may put you on the spot, when you would prefer to stick your head in the sand, or should I say the clouds which is more appropriate for Sagittarius.

You will encourage each other and jealousy is often no problem in this mix and yet over time it is Sagittarius Girl who has to be the easy going one who compromises and yet overall you should both gain personally and emotionally from this relationship and have great fun at the same time.

Aries Moon Capricorn Woman

This section can also apply to Aries Moon Man with Capricorn Rising or a Capricorn Moon girl. This combination has a lot going for it. Capricorn Girl provides a great deal of certainty and assurance to Aries Moon Man while appreciating his driven and independent side.

Capricorn Girl cannot be pushed around and even though Aries Moon Man may try and get his way with you, those tricks he uses on the other Star Signs will fall flat on you and boy does he like that! In fact, he quite likes being put in his place as that gives him a boundary which in turn makes him secure.

As a Capricorn Girl, you find the strong and courageous nature of Aries Moon reassuring, you like it when a man shows strength. Capricorn Girls like an Alpha Male as you can feed off his energy.

Capricorn Girls are known for their determination and will to succeed and yet you can get a little down on yourselves and often you lack self-confidence; Aries Moon Man can give you a little boost here – he can be the high octane fuel which gives your engine a boost.

His innate belief that things will work out and his high energy level are the perfect anecdote to the more sombre aspects of Capricorn and you make a great team.

Capricorn Girl is also the ideal medicine for Aries Moon Man's excesses and his wilder side – you bring calm and restraint and can help him harness and direct his energy.

In terms of home and family life you are both family orientated and together you will enjoy building the home of your dreams and raising a family.

Both Capricorn and Aries Moon have a traditional streak and that make you very compatible as there are shared values and you both like discipline when it comes to the children and their upbringing.

There is a deep emotional bond and you understand each other very well. Not everything has to be spelled out in words of one syllable as you get each other instinctually.

You may both have very different aims and goals in life, but you respect the ambition you sense in each other and will be mutually supportive and helpful.

Capricorn Girl and Aries Moon Man have a lot in common at a fundamental level – perhaps you have had similar experiences growing up or maybe you share many of the same cultural values, but you both tend to have a good appreciation of where the other one is coming from.

You bring discipline and direction to Aries Moon Man and he brings a sense of daring and excitement into your life. Together you feel like dynamite and there is a sense that you are going places as a couple.

Capricorn Girl will tend to be in control; your patience always wins the day over his impetuosity.

You are emotionally close and while you are both not necessarily tactile, you are romantics who enjoy dating, sex and doing things as a couple.

You both believe in the power of love and you will plan for your future with excitement.

Aries Moon Aquarius Woman

This section can also apply to Aries Moon Man with Aquarius Rising or an Aquarius Moon girl.

You will probably be friends before you become lovers as you will know each other from work or maybe you are connected via family i.e. siblings, or met at school.

You enjoy each other's company and may have many long conversations as you enjoy stimulating each other intellectually.

You are quite natural together and may enjoy socialising, traveling and hanging out, as you tend to be quite easy going and things just happen spontaneously when you get together.

Aquarius Girl may be sexually interested in Aries Moon Man before he feels that way about you and you may initiate the romance.

Aquarius Girl is very eager to make the sexual experience a great one for Aries Moon Man and he will rise to the occasion.

You both have a rebellious and contrary streak and both seek truth, which is something that creates a great deal of excitement as you discover many new things that you want to do together or rules you want to break.

There is a great deal of fun and experimentation with this partnership and you both push the limits.

Understanding runs deep and yet the Aries Moon Man's approach may upset Aquarius Girl as he tends to hit you where it hurts in terms of hurting your feelings and can bring out a vulnerable side of you.

Aquarius Girl may not feel safe with Aries Moon Man, sure, he is fun to be around but can you depend and rely on him or will he let you down.

Aquarius Girl likes her freedom and is not used to being told what to do, so she may find Aries Moon Man a little too assertive and bossy.

His tempers and sudden moodiness confound Aquarius Girl who likes to be rational and who will find his highly combustible side hard to deal with. There could be many fallings out and this could be an on again off again affair.

You tend to be drawn back together after arguments and are able to put differences aside quite easily and yet there are fundamental flaws to your understanding of each other than never quite get bridged.

Aquarius Girl is a person who applies logic and who looks for facts and Aries Moon Man is highly intuitive and reacts from the heart – this is a good mix for a couple as it presents a balanced approach of head and heart and yet it can also produce fiery disagreements about how to handle life and what decisions to make.

This combination can make Aquarius Girl more aware of her emotions and also more emotional – Aries Moon Man can bring out your irrational side and can awaken feelings in you which you never knew where there.

While on paper there is much in common as you are both lively, curious lovers of life, in practise, you may argue and hurt each other's feelings.

You can however always fall back on your friendship which is strong and enduring and so, put feelings aside, make up and recapture that loving feeling.

You can have a wonderful relationship if you learn to walk away from confrontation and not allow each other to push your respective buttons.

Aries Moon Pisces Woman

This section can also apply to Aries Moon Man with Pisces Rising or a Pisces Moon girl.

This brings together two very different personalities. One dominant, overt, fiery and demanding and one people pleasing, calm, nurturing and receptive.

There is an immediate attraction from both sides. Aries Moon Man loves the charm, grace and gentleness of Pisces Girl and Pisces Girl finds Aries Moon Man dashing and strong.

Pisces Girl feels that Aries Moon Man is a good fit for her needs; you find he makes you feel secure and safe and you could well see him as a good financial provider.

Aries Moon Man brings out your need to protect and so while you see him as being able to take care of you, you know that he actually needs you to take care of him as well.

This partnership is strong as it involves a matching up of different needs and different abilities. Pisces Girl can calm Aries Moon Man down, she may find his temper hard to handle as it is not in her nature to be explosive, and yet she can see why he gets angry and frustrated and she has the tools to cope with it.

Aries Moon Man tends to have the 'hard' power in that he may set the tone, make the decisions and be the dominant partner and yet Pisces Girl has the soft power in that she understands what is going on at a deeper level and can adapt more quickly and use her emotional intelligence as an advantage.

This pair may have different likes and abilities and it is important for you guys to follow separate interests and not pool all your time into a melting pot of activity.

It is easy for Pisces Girl to become swamped by the needs of Aries Moon Man to the exclusion of her own and so you have to hold on tight to your dreams and your desires and never lose sight of them while you engage with life with Aries Moon Man.

You may remain an unknown quantity to Aries Moon Man; he does not fully get you and that adds to the mystique. You provide him with an understanding and love that he cannot get elsewhere and you fill a gap, a hole, in his life that needed filling.

He needs and relies on you more than you know; you are the anecdote to his weaknesses. You may see him differently from how everyone else does and you know his vulnerabilities.

This relationship is quite a serious one; I chatted much about how the other combinations of Aries Moon Man and the various star signs were 'fun' and 'carefree', however Pisces Girl and Aries Moon Man tend to have a lasting, but more intense relationship with many ups, downs and meandering side roads which mean you never quite know what is coming next and while you may not be having 'fun', you know you are meant to be together.

“You don’t always get what you want” in this love match, but you get what you need.

Conclusion...

I am sure you are now thinking, WOW and the penny has dropped about many aspects of your Aries Moon Man’s behaviour both good and bad.

You will also now have insight into the other Aries Moon people in your life and why you either love or hate them.

In the meantime, take care and look after yourselves!

May the planets be with you!

Love

Anna.
