Your Journey Begins!

Dear Aquarius Lady,

Welcome to this guide, which is geared to helping you understand your Aquarian personality and the relationship needs, themes and desires you experience.

As your astrologer, I aim to provide helpful advice to relieve anxiety and self-doubt in your relationships so that you can proceed with more confidence.

This guide also provides insight into other areas of your life for a rounded perspective.

It's always exciting to discuss the dynamic, witty, resourceful, thoughtful, flirtatious sign of Aquarius. However, remember that while Aquarius is your sun sign, your ascendant or rising sign and moon sign have a direct bearing on relationships too.

Astrology is a complex art of interpretation based on your unique time, place and date of birth, which provides an astrological snapshot of planetary energies and influences.

However our sun sign, in your case Aquarius, remains the single most influential force in terms of personality, life course, choices and relationship themes.

Famous Aquarius Women

Jennifer Aniston

Our first famous Aquarius woman is Jennifer Aniston of Friends fame. Both Jennifer's parents were actors, and while her father begged her not to go into acting because it was such a brutal world full of painful rejection, she of course ignored him and rebelled, doing a variety of jobs from receptionist at an ad agency to promoting weight loss products while she sought her big break.

I have found a number of surprisingly critical articles about Jennifer on Google which I find unfair, and which I think reflects that an Aquarius woman is often misunderstood.

Apparently on set (in terms of films not Friends) she was aloof and distant and steered clear of everyone else, neither socialising nor interacting.

This is quite natural for an Aquarius woman, who enjoys the freedom of her own space and who often keeps people at arm's length. No one is more social and interactive than an Aquarius woman when she's in a social mood, but she loves her own company just as much.

Jennifer is being misconstrued; she probably had a fascinating book to get back to or wanted to get lost in her own world. An Aquarius woman is a free spirit, an unpredictable woman who doesn't conform to expectations of others.

Jennifer has a beautifully decorated home, dogs who she loves, she travels, she sculpts and she's always busy with her career - this can keep most Aquarian women happy as you guys seek a life of variety, change and stimulation from work.

Her wealth provides the stability that's important to an Aquarius woman. However, her love life has had magical promise, as well as great disappointment, and that's typical of Aquarius women who experience the unexpected in love and who often struggle to find a happy medium in relationships.

Idealism and high expectations can lead an Aquarius woman into impossible relationships that fail to deliver. You often experience freedom/closeness dilemmas in love, as within your personality is both a hesitancy to be trapped coexisting with the need for passionate, entangled and exclusive relationships.

Jennifer had a difficult relationship with her Leo mother, who wanted her to be perfect and who may have sparked a control-freak dimension to Jennifer's personality.

Perfectionism is always a part of an Aquarius woman's life, and you have a desire to seek perfectionism in your work or in your life in some way. Perfectionism and being a bit of a control freak go together and often an Aquarius woman becomes a touch controlling in love or falls for a control freak.

Either way, you always have to keep an eye out for these control issues in love or with your children.

Jennifer witnessed her parents' relationship crumble and their divorce had a deep effect on her, as it would for any young Aquarius girl who is emotionally sensitive and in need of stability and reassurance.

This may have affected her ability to have successful relationships, and issues stemming from what you, as an Aquarius woman, witnessed in terms of your parents are worth exploring. Your parents' relationship may impact your relationships in ways you don't fully appreciate.

Jennifer found her mother's temper tantrums and critical ways toxic; she was also unforgiving and grudge-bearing which is very hard for Aquarius to accept.

An Aquarius woman often seems to be related to, or drawn to, personality types like Jennifer's mom who have anger, control and resentment issues, and so be on the lookout for that in love. Jennifer, in typical Aquarius fashion, finds holding grudges petty.

She eventually left home where friends became her new family; she is quoted as saying, "We always joke that we raised each other, we mothered each other, we sistered each other, we've been kids to each other." This is so typically Aquarian - friends are often so much more important to you than family.

Yoko Ono

Yoko Ono is another iconic Aquarius woman, famous for pioneering conceptual art, peace activism, musical achievements and, some would say more controversially, the woman who broke up the Beatles.

She was married three times, to her second husband twice. So far she's shaping up to tick all our Aquarius woman boxes in terms of being an innovative, pacifist, controversial and colorful woman.

Yoko experienced the turmoil and turnabouts which often follow Aquarius women through life - she was born to a wealthy banker and classical pianist, spent her first years in relative luxury in Japan then San Francisco, New York and then back to Japan where she attended an exclusive school.

However, her father was transferred to Hanoi and during the war landed up in a Chinese prisoner of war camp.

She survived the 1945 bombing of Tokyo after which starvation was rampant, and her family was forced to push a wheelbarrow with their belongings. Yoko says that she developed her "aggressive" attitude and understanding of "outsider" status at this time. The outsider status is so typically Aquarian.

In true Aquarius woman style, Yoko always surprised others by flipping the script, with her unapologetic art and activism. She defied her parents by falling in with an art crowd they disapproved of. She upset Beatles fans by 'stealing' John's heart. But she's always lived on her terms, through triumph and tragedy.

Her romance and marriage with John was as much about intellectual stimulation and a shared mission as it was about love and sex, and this thread runs through all Aquarius relationships.

Ellen Degeneres

Ellen Degeneres is also an Aquarius woman; she is socially progressive. Totally at home with the glitterati, billionaires, the liberal elite and yet she has also been seen hanging out with George W. Bush, which shows that Aquarius woman is never predictable in terms of who she decides to spend her time with.

I note that On May 1, 2009, Ellen celebrated the 1000th episode of her Talk Show, featuring celebrity guests such as Oprah Winfrey, Justin Timberlake, and Paris Hilton, among others.

Jennifer Aniston and Justin Timberlake surprised DeGeneres on her 2,000th show in December 2015. All these people just mentioned are AQUARIANS. So, Aquarians are drawn to each other.

Ellen is a great Aquarius icon in terms of being a forerunner for increasing tolerance of lifestyle choices during a time when this created more of a stir than they do now, and championing veganism, humanitarianism and animal rights.

Quadruplicities, Rulership and Triplicities

Masculine And Feminine Signs

The signs are also divided in to masculine or feminine: you can also see this as yin or yang, introvert or extrovert.

Aries, Gemini, Leo, Libra, Sagittarius and Aquarius are all positive signs.

The masculine or positive signs, of which Aquarius is one, are self-starters who initiate action. They tend to embrace change and do not linger on thinking long about the past.

They have an eye on the future and are ambitious. They want results from what they do and they do not wait for fate to step in and change their lives – they are not fatalistic, they believe they are in control at the steering wheel of life.

These signs are positive and like to feel as if they are in motion and not parked in a dead-end street. They do not mind throwing life into chaos in order to open up possibilities. They knock on doors and go out to find opportunities.

The positive signs are quite demanding, and they crave excitement more than security.

Aquarius - An Air Sign

The air signs are Libra, Gemini and Aquarius.

Air is the element associated with intellect, communication, ideas, travel, impartiality, objectivity, change and adaptability. Air signs are very sociable creatures who enjoy being among people - they like to gather, share ideas and they are intensely curious.

Air signs can be stubborn emotionally, however intellectually they often change their minds.

Air has a big influence on the other signs - just think about air in nature. Air causes sand storms, it shapes the canyons over time, air can whip the ocean up into a frenzy and fuel the flames of a forest fire.

Air is fast-moving and reaches across the globe without borders or barriers. Air connects everything, air drives change and also brings some destruction.

Air signs value communication highly in relationships - you need to understand things logically and you often don't develop your intuition as you rely so much on your trusted rationale.

You need conversation in marriage and must have regular chit-chats to make you feel secure and confidential connected.

Air signs are fact seekers, you ask questions and you tend to make your decisions on the basis of what you find out rather than what you feel.

You seldom make snap judgements as you take a considered approach and you take your time to form important opinions. You often ignore your heart and go with your head.

Air signs are hard to read. You tend not to readily display emotion, and since you have a very pragmatic approach to life, you can conceal your true desires and feelings.

This makes you hard to satisfy as a partner may not quite know what you really want to make you happy. People never quite know what you actually are thinking, partly because you change your mind a lot, but also because you enjoy playing devil's advocate or sitting on the fence rather than taking one side or the other.

Air signs get bored easily, you are spontaneous and you love adventure. Air signs are always up for a party, you believe in having fun and enjoying life. You have high energy levels and little gets you down for long as you seldom get tired of life.

Air signs like to pontificate on the big questions of life, you can be rather philosophical and you care about humanity. Air can be a little impersonal and that can come over as callous and uncaring.

Air cannot be contained – it can be hard to pin you down, as you are a free spirit with boundless energy and enthusiasm. Just like oxygen must be stored in a high-pressure metal canister, it's not easy to bottle you up and contain you. You will always find freedom eventually.

Aquarius – One Of The Fixed Signs

It is important to look at the classification of Aquarius as a fixed sign as it has an important bearing on relationships and who you attract and connect with.

'Fixed' is a quadruplicity and the other fixed signs are Leo, Taurus and Scorpio. Fixed has an affinity with the planet Saturn. The key markers of fixed signs are determination, loyalty, steadfastness and perseverance.

There is a desire for stability and continuity and an eagerness to build, which means that there is also a desire to experience growth in relationships. Your keenness to persevere means that you are ready to work through relationship problems and that, once committed, it takes a lot to get you to walk away.

Relationships are seen as an investment and just like the stock market, you will hang on to your shares and ride out the ups and downs rather than sell quickly when there is a downturn.

Fixed signs are in it for the long haul and while your tendency to be long-suffering means that often you stay in a bad relationship too long, just as often you can rescue something by hanging in there and achieve a beautiful end result.

Your love is unwavering and you may defy logic in love, as attachments matter and are felt at a very deep level. There is a slowness to fixed signs - you can be reticent and may like to take things slowly, but that does not mean you lack the desire for commitment – you simply take one day as it comes.

While you and your fellow fixed signs are reliable, you can be rigid and often respond to slowly to problems and warning signs, often letting things get really bad before you act.

I guess you could say that fixed signs and Aquarius especially are at their best with their backs to the wall, but why let it get that far? You may have to train yourself to recognize and respond earlier to brewing issues.

Fixed signs get very set in their ways and that can make getting into a relationship later in life harder as you do not adjust well to other people, so often falling in love later in life is a challenge, but it can also be a wonderful new beginning.

URANUS – Your Special Ruler

The traditional ruler of Aquarius is Saturn; however the discovery of Uranus in 1781 meant a brand new and super-suitable ruler for Aquarius.

Uranus is the planet of freedom, rebellion, equality and progress, and its discovery coincided with American independence, the French Revolution, the birth of the dollar and the US Constitution.

Uranus is the planet of electricity and eccentricity, it's associated with genius and weirdness, it's spontaneous - however it can be arrogant and pig-headed.

Uranus is certainly an exciting planet, it's known for upheaval and sudden changes that cause an explosion of creativity and expression. Uranus is about seeking new ideas, espousing concepts, challenging paradigms, calling out hypocrisy and thinking laterally.

Uranus is about flashes of inspiration and sudden insights; however it can be cold, impractical and aloof.

Uranus is a masculine energy that challenges and usurps, it's not a calming or soothing force as it's about change and generating excitement and controversy. Uranus is interested in the collective, but stands apart as an individual.

An Aquarius woman encapsulates the spirit of Uranus which makes you a free thinker, an egalitarian, a rebel, a restless soul who seeks to bring enlightenment to others.

You have that Uranian desire to reform and challenge authority. You are very interested in humanity but you don't necessarily identify with any one group - as the famous poem goes, you count yourself with all men but not too much.

In a similar vein, you can walk with kings but not lose your common touch. Labels bounce off you as you are unique.

Uranus conveys upon you unconventional mannerisms and ways, and you are quirky and mysterious. Uranus is the hippie planet and an Aquarius woman is often bohemian and full of flower power. You dress not to impress but to express your free-spirited love of life.

You enjoy being different, you are able to make friends with almost anyone and yet few ever get to know you well. You may revel in being different and could court controversy, however many Aquarius women are shy and don't enjoy the limelight necessarily; but you often draw unusual circumstances towards yourself, thus attracting attention.

Uranus is the freedom-loving planet that rejects dogma and resents authority and tradition, and an Aquarius woman thrives when she has autonomy and can act independently according the her conscious.

As your ruler is associated with technology and science, you may be drawn to scientific fields and may master intricate technologies.

But Uranus is also the planet of the New Age and many Aquarius women find satisfaction in alternative friends, from astrology to healing to metaphysics.

Uranus is the planet of invention and explosions, indeed an Aquarius woman is an ingenious person who rarely gets stuck in a corner, however you attract the explosions via your love life as it's your partners who are often feisty and volcanic.

Aquarius – Who Are You?

You tend to have an impersonal but friendly emotional outlook. You like to be friendly with everybody and are not one to discriminate, you are very popular and well-liked and although you have many friends (from all sorts of backgrounds), you have few very close friends as you take true friendship very seriously and you are very loyal.

There is a sparkling, effervescent, unusual quality about your personal manner.

Youth attitudes towards social and sexual morality may be rather liberal and may depart from the standard rules laid down by society.

You have your own interpretation of what is just and meaningful and your very own set of values. You hate crude behaviour, although you yourself do not always observe traditional concepts of social behaviour.

Who Are You Attracted To?

Romantic attractions are often casual and not necessarily stable or lasting.

Intellectual stimulation in romance and partnership is very important to you and you are attracted to ingenious or eccentric types as well as those who will help you to expend your social outlets.

Your romantic partner must be a friend as well as a lover, and must understand that you require variety and mental stimulation, and dislike boring routine.

Too much routine and familiarity destroy the fantasy and romance of love, so breathing space is essential to keep the flame of love alive. You are very idealistic about love, you want perfection - this is why space and freedom within love relationships is a must.

You are very loyal but dislike partners who are clingy and manipulating. You hate jealousy and possessiveness and will shy away from partners who seek to curtail your social freedom.

The eclecticism of Venus in Aquarius inclines you towards unusual tastes. You like forms of art which are either very modern or very ancient.

There is also a liking for electronic forms of art and an ability in the areas of graphic design, synthesised music and music production.

Intuition about people's social, emotional and personal dispositions can be highly developed, verging on mental telepathy of the emotional states of other.

What Do You Like Sexually?

If afflicted, sexual habits can be eccentric and promiscuous. Although you sincerely intend to remain constant in your affections, your emotional outlook is subject to radical changes (esp. if your moon is in air), which can result in you breaking old relationships or creating new ones suddenly and with no apparent reason.

The hidden motivation is usually the desire for greater personal freedom or new experiences. Emotional attitudes are often stubborn and you may refuse to see other points of view.

If well-inspected then you will sustain loyalty to someone who you truly love and respect.

Relationships need a high degree of emotional honesty - only true love will last with Venus in Aquarius, and you won't stay in a relationship purely for security and out of duty even though you do put a high value on stability and duty.

What Do You Need Most In Life?

Aquarius is the most intelligent sign and yet your needs are complex. You must have a combination of change and also stability to thrive, and you need intellectual and social challenge.

You often feel misunderstood and lonely, but you have an open-minded and positive approach. You love diversity and are progressive and understanding.

Again, I see a role for you in counselling as you are very understanding and can tap into people's emotions.

You're A Rebel Without A Cause

Aquarians are the mavericks and the rebels of the zodiac. They are free spirits who never like to conform. Aquarians are known for their humanitarianism and egalitarian ideas.

Aquarians are ahead of their time but often misunderstood, and they have open minds and are most often at the forefront of new thought waves and ground-breaking ideas; most often in the fields of science, computers or the arts.

There is a political side to Aquarians, and while some Aquarians have absolutely zero interest in politics, many follow it avidly or actively partake in promoting a cause.

Aquarians often promote their ideas and ideals in a passionate way, albeit mainly intellectually.

Friendships Are So Important – What Are Yours Like?

Aquarians love people and have the ability to get on with people from all sorts of different backgrounds and cultures. People and their personalities fascinate Aquarians, who love to 'people watch'.

Social and intellectual stimulation are food and drink to the Aquarian who must have mental stimulation at all times.

Debate and conversation are a must for the Aquarian, who also enjoys being controversial and play devil's advocate. Aquarians have the ability to be quite impartial and detached about very emotive or upsetting issues: this is what makes them the ideal sign for a crisis.

Many Aquarians work as paramedics or as counsellors as they are able to stay calm, focused and to be practical in very difficult and trying circumstances. In fact, Aquarians have a very calming manner, which enables them to bring chaos and panic under control.

Having said this, in a social context Aquarians often like to stir things up by being controversial or argumentative. They enjoy the mental challenge of an argument, which tends to upset others and not the Aquarian who remains impartial.

Time To Explore!

Aquarians are very interested in uncharted territory; they are mental explorers. This means that fields within the New Age realm are of particular interest to them.

Many Aquarians are astrologers; despite being the most skeptical about astrology, they become its greatest advocates after being converted.

Conservation and nature are also things close to the Aquarian's heart; many Aquarians campaign for green issues. Aquarians love the outdoors and are often conservationists, horticulturists or biologists.

Science is also a field that attracts Aquarians as they are very interested in the origins of humanity. Aquarians like proof and that is the reason why, of all the signs, Aquarius is the least into religion.

Aquarians tend to trust science - they need to see it to believe it and need some sort of scientific proof rather than trusting in a 'story handed down over generations,' as one Aquarian friend of mine once said.

When Aquarians are into religion, they make a very close study of it and come to their own conclusions rather than accepting what has been said by others.

It is easy to see why Aquarians are the inventors of the zodiac - they never accept what is put before them, they always question and challenge assumptions.

Aquarians are very free thinkers and that is why they are better off in careers where they can use their creativity, vision and forward-thinking in an unlimited way, rather than being stifled into a mundane career where rules and protocol dominate.

It is inevitable that the Aquarian will rebel at some point and either throw away what other may regard as a perfect position or get fired to escape.

All Aquarians are highly intelligent, even though many do not do well at school. The school system tends to bore Aquarians and they do not perform well in that sort of environment. Aquarians are not competitive - instead of competing, they go their own unique way.

Aquarians revel in being different and actively defy convention and 'normal' ways of thinking. Aquarians have great verbal communication skills and strong people power - they are not born leaders but rather spreaders of ideas and educators.

Stay Independent!

Aquarians love their freedom. They enjoy marriages where there is a great deal of independence offered to them and their partner is willing to let them do their own thing.

Aquarians are very loyal, however, not like the Sagittarian players. It is said that an Aquarian never gets over their first love!

Despite the fact that Aquarians expect independence, they are often jealous when their partners also exercise independence - quite a catch 22. Aquarians have a jealous and stubborn side; they are a fixed sign after all.

Despite loving freedom and wanting to constantly have new experiences, Aquarians do crave a certain degree of structure and continuity in their lives. This is why Aquarians like to be married, despite wanting freedom within the marriage.

Who Do You Attract?

Aquarians inevitably attract Scorpios, Leos and Taureans into their lives - the attraction can be fatal. These signs are usually involved in very close, yet turbulent, relationships.

An Aquarius woman has a mind open to new experiences. There is the ability to see things in the light of impersonal truth, a thinking that is unbiased, truthful and objective.

You have little concern for traditional or socially acceptable ideas if these conflict with facts or firsthand experience - the truth must come first.

You are not easily surprised by anything you see or experience, although unexpected, irrational behavior by a partner always blindsides you. You are able to accept things that others may find unnerving or incomprehensible, which makes you terrific in any family crisis.

You are able to look beyond trivialities to see a grand scheme at work. Your mind is somehow able to perceive universal truths, giving you the ability to get to grips with many spiritual and metaphysical subjects.

Far from dismissing ideas on mind over matter, thinking positive etc. you know that they have validity, as you know that there is more to our existence than meets the eye. You cannot be with a small-minded, materialistic person who is preoccupied with day to day concerns.

Looking Into The Spiritual World

You are able to experience sensations beyond the five physical senses, and you need to be taken seriously when you talk about these sensations.

Sometimes you can be a little idealistic and impractical in your thinking, which is reflected in your ideas. You are at home in the abstract realm of the mind and the intellect and less often with the realm of feelings.

Sometimes you are too detached and objective at the expense of gut feel and emotion.

You enjoy working in the outdoors and you love nature. Ecological matters are close to your heart and you may well campaign for environmental issues.

An Aquarius woman may have poor self-control as your ruler requires that you follow your inspiration rather than arbitrary rules, so make sure a partner understand that part of your nature as it should not be suppressed.

There can be forgetfulness and impracticality in daily matters which may create the impression you are thoughtless, but this is way off the mark.

You may often be up in the clouds, totally switched off to daily life and almost silly when it comes to finances or practical affairs. You will suffer from Utopian ideas but really need grounding.

You are unambitious in the material sense and do not put a high value on conventional achievement - what matters to you is broadening your mind.

You are very ingenious and good at working out solutions to problems - particularly technical problems.

Let's Delve Deeper

"Even if it ain't all it seems
I got a pocketful of dreams."

An Aquarius woman can never be accused of thinking small - however you may not exhibit traditional ambitions.

You are often too impatient to follow through on your ideas which is why you are more powerful in a relationship, or within a group, as you can inspire and generate ideas, and then your partner or group can act on and actualise them.

An Aquarius woman will experience a life of quite radical changes and you will go through distinct phases which often end or begin abruptly.

Often events in your life feel upside-down and you struggle to be understood or to live on other people's terms. You are by nature tolerant as you are used to being the odd one out and having to live in what you regard as a somewhat inhospitable world.

You are fascinated by people and your sociable and pleasant manner make it easy for you to make friends.

You are a helpful, vibrant person with a friendly attitude and yet it's not easy for you to make the transition from acquaintance to boson buddy or soulmate.

You enjoy being in company, but you must circulate - you don't want to be trapped in one clique. You often feel lonely and you seek a close relationship that makes you feel accepted, loved and appreciated at a deep level.

You can experience many infatuations, especially when young as you crave this perfect and ideal love relationship which is not attainable in the real world. You are drawn to 'impossible' relationships or relationships where you put a person on a pedestal because there's this 'nothing to lose' theme.

An Aquarius woman is not deterred by much - you aren't a hothead like Aries, an egotist like Leo or an adventure seeker like Sagittarius, but you have a flavor of all these in that you are valiant, spirited and romantic.

You believe in true love almost as much as Aries and Leo do, but your scientific mind does try to be cynical and remind you that it's all a chemical reaction, but your heart will never believe that.

Out-of-this-world events can turn their world upside down, but sometimes they prefer a life full of adventure to one that is predictable, secure and settled. Uranus here can bring peculiar and strange life events, certainly ones that arrive 'out of the blue'. If Uranus forms difficult aspects in the natal chart, it may bring shocking separations and the breaking of social ties with associates which end suddenly.

Uranus' placement indicates where we are most creative, inventive and unconventional, and it's where we seek the most freedom. In the 1st house, it can make one apt to change thoughts and position radically and with little warning.

They may always stand opposed to what is considered formal, traditional and limited, preferring upheaval and change to maintaining the status quo.

Uranus in the 1st house has a unique and innovative approach, and this planet is associated with new discoveries, risk-taking, and scientific or occult exploration.

They want to be autonomous, independent and freedom-orientated, and they are inclined to strike out in an entirely new way. This placement is adept at leading groups, organizations, visualizing futuristic trends, and seeking new ways to express old ideas.

In this placement, there is also considerable inventive ability, and they will often have an interest in out-of-the-ordinary subjects. Many with Uranus here are trailblazers for their generation, and Uranus inclines us to break free and do things on our own terms.

Throughout life, they may feel different, special or alienated from their surroundings. However, Uranus here really wants to make a difference in the world, and bring progress and great changes.

Those with this placement are blazing trails and seeking new ways to express old ideas. They may be adept at leading groups and being at the front of social activist causes, and expounding on futuristic ideas.

Uranus in this position, though, can sometimes be troublesome; they like to shake, rebel and shock others. Moreover, they often shatter other people's expectations of them.

If Uranus is aspected in a challenging way, they can be extremely self-willed, rebellious and unreasonable, and often disruptive. Yet they are the ones who are frequently found to have a very colorful, lively, and, shall we say – eventful life.

You're A Girl On Fire

When an Aquarius woman falls in love, you fall hard. Love is a serious business for an Aquarius woman, so you can be slow to commit and you need a lot of reassurance that there is a bona fide mental connection and that your partner is not going to tie you down once your heart is captured.

You really want to make your relationships work and thus you are not flippant about entering relationships.

People make the mistake of thinking an Aquarius woman is a commitment-phobe or likes a lot of freedom - of course you must have some freedom, but as a fixed sign you need structure and security, for which you will forego certain freedoms happily.

Once committed you are a very intense lover and an Aquarius woman actually enjoys people who are slightly controlling, because you find that perversely reassuring.

If an Aquarius woman is given too much freedom, you actually feel insecure as you need to weave a strong, cohesive fabric in relationships. You function well and give your best in a balanced and cooperative relationship.

If a partner is distant and gives you way too much freedom, you will hold back emotionally, be cool yourself and love will never truly blossom, nor will your true passionate nature.

Try Everything!

An Aquarius woman is a lover of life, eternally optimistic, always wanting to embrace new opportunities; however you have a cautious and serious side and that's why you gravitate to people who are either complicated or intense.

Yes, you enjoy people who communicate well, who are entertaining and have a lot to say, but you also think talk is cheap and you won't fall for someone who's just a good talker but has no depth, because depth is gold to you in relationships.

You tend to be attracted to people who have a mysterious aura, who are very emotional or have very strong or even rigid beliefs, because although this may go against your own grain, often to you it's a signal that there's substance to them and that serious side of them is a turn-on for you.

There's Time To Talk And Time To Listen

An Aquarius woman likes long discussions in love and these don't have to be about emotional issues - they can be about anything, as long as you are talking.

You enjoy engaging particularly in order to find out more about your partner, and what makes them tick, because you are intensely curious about other people.

You need a partner who is like an onion so you can peel away the layers, because if someone is only able to communicate on a superficial or mundane level, they are surely going to lose your interest in the long run.

The big challenge for you in relationships is to know when your partner wants to be silent and doesn't want to talk and or share.

You often like to iron things out and be totally rational, but sometime other people need to go through an emotional storm and have time to let off steam in an irrational way, and that can't necessarily be controlled with reason or logic.

So you have to accept that sometimes, even if you feel you're being totally reasonable, you cannot rush someone else's emotional recovery after an argument or upsetting episode.

Walking On Thin Ice

Now while you enjoy communicating in a relationship, you often scoot around important issues, unpicking them piece by piece rather than tackling them head-on, and this may be awkward for you if you attract a partner who likes to talk about very close to the bone issues or contentious issues often.

Because you like to retreat into your fantasy world where everything is ideal, it's thus difficult for your internal balance if you have a partner who brings you down or who foists too much emotional angst onto you.

While you like to be controversial and you tend to stir the pot, and while you like to introduce subjects that will get debate going, you can become upset by a partner who rubs salt in your wounds or who challenges your core beliefs.

A brutally honest or critical partner can be uncomfortable for you, as you like partners who don't necessarily go too close to your red zones.

You like to talk, but often it's on your terms and you may try and steer your partner away from subjects that make you feel uncomfortable, so there's almost a one-way mirror in your relationships where you want to see everything, but your partner isn't allowed to see back through the other way.

You like to make other people feel uncomfortable but you don't want to be made feel uncomfortable, because after all an Aquarius woman is quite sensitive.

I think the key phrase here is 'people in glass houses shouldn't throw stones'.

You have to watch out for prying, digging or seeming too clinical about your partner's issues, because although you don't mean it, you can often inadvertently rub salt into people's wounds and then get surprised at their reaction, so don't poke a bear in a cage with a stick because you might be doing that without realizing.

You'll Be There For Everybody

An Aquarius woman has a little bit of the Sagittarian rescue instinct - you want to make your partner happy in love, and you in effect want to heal or restore them and that may not be possible on the terms you believe it can.

You can be very romantic, remembering little details or dates, and thinking of thoughtful surprises etc.

When truly in love, you are very generous, but you have to avoid going overboard and not becoming fixated on someone because Aquarius can often become obsessed with a person and can enter the twilight zone where you do things that don't actually make sense in the context of the relationship.

While you are eager and have good intentions, your timing in love can be terrible and not everything you plan turns out as expected.

You shouldn't rush relationships and nor should you overdo the communications: no excess email or texts.

You can be drawn to people who have deep-seated issues because you feel that you can weave your magic on them, you feel you can understand that person and can almost redeem them, and some cases you can, but usually you can get yourself into something which is emotionally tricky and hard extricate yourself from.

So you should think long and hard before you enter a relationship which is likely to be very complicated because of your partner's past or because of their issues.

Excited By Intimacy

An Aquarius woman is usually very enthusiastic sexually; you enjoy lovemaking and you like to be with warm-hearted, vibrant, flamboyant and passionate people who give a lot and show a lot of emotion, because this is very gratifying for you and it turns you on.

You are a very creative lover who is excellent at thinking of things that will keep your love life interesting. When it comes to grabbing a new partner's attention, you often stand head and shoulders above the competition because you're simply a genius when it comes to love, and you try very hard in romance.

While an Aquarius woman can initially be very shy in love and while you are a self-effacing star sign, once you get caught up in a relationship, you do become audacious and daring and you will show more emotion and put a lot of effort in.

Once engaged on an emotional level, it's very hard to get you to walk away from a relationship, and unless someone gives you extremely clear signals that they aren't interested or aren't suitable, you will hang in there.

You do have to be very careful of partners who keep you dangling on a string, because if you get 5% encouragement and 95% rejection you're still inclined to cling on - so do watch out for that problem.

A Clash of Planets

You truly believe in 'nothing ventured nothing gained' in life and love, and you'll go out to impress someone - even if it's unlikely that you're going to succeed and more likely that you'll land up with egg on your face, you still believe it's always worth a try.

An Aquarius woman is eager in love because you're an idealist and this is very endearing to potential partners, and it may indeed be a winning strategy long term.

Uranus, your ruler, is such a firecracker planet which encourages spontaneity and high hopes, and yet your co-ruler Saturn is serious and looking for constructive, solid relationships.

This clash between Uranus and Saturn will always give rise to drama within your relationships, which is why your relationships tend to be addictive, piquant and often full of idiosyncrasies.

You may often break up and make up again but the making up is so sweet; therefore don't expect your relationships to follow a smooth line, they're more like the stock market

Appearances Don't Matter All That Much

An Aquarius woman isn't one that puts enormous emphasis on looks - you have self-confidence in your physical appearance and know that your aura is way more exciting than simple good looks.

Because an Aquarius woman is rarely obsessed with your own appearance, you will not be critical of a partner's appearance and will instead be attracted to their life force and energy which you are rather good at perceiving.

That said, you are drawn to men who are creative in their dressing, perhaps even displaying pride in their appearance, however this doesn't equate to simply having natural good looks - you are more impressed by what they make of what they have rather than what they are born with.

THE DECANS

Aquarius Decan 1 - January 20th - January 29 - Ruled By Uranus.

Decan one intensifies your Aquarian traits - you crave knowledge and you love intellectual games.

You may take many years to come into your own and overcome a certain self-consciousness and social awkwardness. You are outgoing, but have a certain lack of self-awareness in youth that makes you too sensitive.

While you enjoy socializing and interacting with a variety of people, you can quickly get annoyed because you find certain situations very frustrating.

You have a high level of originality and you are successful in life because you are perceptive, quick-witted, and you have a talent for communication, although you may not realize that when younger.

You are an open-minded person who moves with the times, you are consistent in your friendliness and your attitude to other people, and you make a loyal friend.

This decan Aquarius woman loves children as you have a playful, youthful spirit and a great deal of vitality and energy.

You have a zest for life and you never become jaded – however, often you jump from thing to thing, never fully completing what you start in a way that justifies your efforts.

While you enjoy other people's company and you engage in social pursuits, peer groups and colleagues can always be a challenge for you and you work best on your own independently and without a boss.

You are drawn to careers which enable you the freedom to travel, to think and to create.

You are an affectionate person and you will always be kind and generous in spirit, but you can be impatient and you certainly need a partner who shows willingness to take responsibility for their own issues.

The best partner for yourself is another air sign, because you do need a lot of space and freedom in relationships - you don't want to be tied down to a fixed routine or a schedule. You like partners who enjoy trying new things and who are quite spontaneous and who enjoy a flexible lifestyle.

Your ideal partner is a comrade, someone who is almost a partner in crime, someone who brings to you faithfulness, who's giving and looking for a permanent relationship. Your ideal mate should also have a wide social group and many interests and should not be overly dependent on your affection.

You are a well-rounded person, who is helpful, friendly and a pleasant person to know.

It's vital that you have a partner who gets you to laugh and see the fun side of life, because often you can get fixated on things that aren't healthy for you.

This decan tends to live according to your nerves and you are a hyper-vigilant person, and you may suffer from stress and a lot of inner tension, which is why a flexible, easy going partner who doesn't take life too seriously is a good antidote to your more uptight side.

Aquarius Decan 2 - January 30th - February 8th - Ruled By Mercury

A second decan Aquarius woman is lively and energetic, but you may lack concentration and staying power. You love shortcuts and you aren't particularly persevering.

Your skill is in your versatility and in coming up with ingenious and creative solutions. You may be the one known for putting your foot in it, as you often casually say things without thinking. You enjoy creating controversy, but you may not hang about for the resulting fallout.

You can be socially insatiable and you may jump from one group of people to another, constantly looking for where the action is.

You are charming and very attractive to the opposite sex because you have a sparkle to your personality. You are rather exciting and have plenty to say for yourself but you have to watch out for being a talk-a-holic and for fidgeting or losing interest when others talk.

The inner child is alive and well in Aquarius decan 2, and unlike the other two decans, who may need a more mature and stable partner, you are quite happy to be with a youthful, rather carefree or even reckless partner.

This decan has a gift for language and you might be drawn to a partner who speaks a different language, as this may be a turn-on or a unique challenge for you.

You are highly restless, you enjoy a flexible lifestyle and you certainly don't want to be stuck in one place for long. You desire a partner who likes active weekends, taking day trips, sightseeing, visiting friends etc. as it's hard for you to be in one place for too long.

Often this decan is accused of inconsistency; you tend to have a bad memory because you are jumping from thing to thing so quickly that you don't keep track of promises made, and so you need a partner who is very independent and resilient.

You are a free spirit and are easy going, in that you don't hold grudges and you don't keep track of what other people are doing wrong. Each day is always a new day and you're ready to grab any new opportunity that arises.

This is the Aquarius decan that is least likely to commit. You enjoy the variety of the single life and have a family of friends who cater to your emotional needs.

You hate confrontation and you are less likely than the other decans to enjoy drama, as you don't like hassle. You can be very vague or deceptive if you feel it makes your life easier.

The pursuit of happiness is very important to you and you are unlikely to see a bad relationship through, as if things get too heated or contentious, you're out the door.

You are often attracted to people who don't suit you at all - you get into these relationships thinking 'this is it,' and quickly realize you're totally wrong.

You are best suited to personalities who are a little bit frivolous, who are not emotionally intense and who want to enjoy life and like to take things as they come. You ideally want to avoid very conservative, rigid or very sensitive signs and you can't deal and won't deal with manipulation.

You may be attracted to partners who are quite immature emotionally; this can suit you well. You may be attracted to someone who's younger than yourself, as he still has the impulsiveness and openness of a young person and you don't really click with people who jaded or cynical.

You are honest and frank, but you are rarely derogatory or sharp in what you say. Shared activity with your partner is often more important than communication per se.

Aquarius Decan 3 - February 9th - February 19th - Ruled By Venus.

This decan of Aquarius is the most likely to marry young, because forming close attachments to the opposite sex is very important to decan 3.

Third decan Aquarius women will have many significant relationships with both men and women of a romantic, and a platonic, nature in life.

While the other decans can be more rebellious and outspoken, this decan of Aquarius is a lover not a fighter.

You are very much orientated to the aesthetic, and may be interested in art. You are definitely interested in human relationships, negotiation and maybe psychology.

This is the most friendly, personable and charming of the Aquarian decans, and you enjoy working in teams and in partnership a lot more than the other decans who can tend towards being loners.

You do run the risk of living your life vicariously through others and so it's important for you to be goal-driven, and it's great if you have a partner who encourages you to be ambitious, because you can dither or delay as you often don't expect as much of yourself as the other decans.

This is a very artistic decan of Aquarius and while you may not enjoy the limelight, you could certainly enjoy contributing to enterprises geared towards entertainment and leisure as you like travel with teams and in groups.

Like other Aquarius decans, you are a reformer who certainly will devote your life to improving the lives of others and encouraging the self-development of others.

You are the most socially confident of the Aquarians, you love romance and from early on you were seeking to form stable and lasting relationships with your friends.

Within a marriage you can be quiet and contemplative, you are less rowdy than the other Aquarians, and while you're not shy you enjoy keeping some thoughts to yourself.

Aquarius is a masculine sign, but this decan is the most in touch with emotions and feelings and you tend to exhibit more easily your receptive or feminine qualities, whereas the other decans are often focused on assertiveness, aggression and leadership qualities.

You are flirtatious when it comes to love, and just like the other decans you are not easily satisfied and you get bored very quickly.

While romance is important to you, you need a lot of activity, and mental and emotional stimulation in love. Looks do matter a little bit more than the other decans as you have an eye for beauty.

You tend to be a reliable partner who finds it important to keep promises and you won't ruin a relationship by neglecting your duties.

You see the best in others, but you can be a little bit naive when it comes to matters regarding close friends and associates - your judgement is more precise, ethical and pragmatic when it comes to strangers.

You enjoy travel a lot and having a bucket list, or list of aspirations which you hope to accomplish in the future, always helps you get through the difficult times.

You have a very positive nature and are always ready to open a new chapter and start afresh. Because you're good at putting the past behind you, there's always an opportunity to restore and revitalize relationships, no matter how rocky they have been.

Key Relationships Facts

1. An Aquarius Lady Repels Relationship Stereotypes

Aquarius women are intelligent, you have a strong sense of self, a unique identity and an Aquarius woman tends to have a strongly defined personality.

You are not submissive by nature - while you are tolerant, you aren't always yielding, and you can be quite stubborn and so in relationships you need a certain amount of flexibility in a partner.

You don't conform to stereotypical roles within the family unit or within your relationship, and therefore you're quite open to having bohemian relationships, age-gap relationships or relationships where gender roles are reversed or fluid.

When it comes to love, an Aquarius woman won't be bound by traditional expectations, so you shouldn't be disturbed if your relationships are nothing like your friends' and you should never use them as a point of comparison.

2. Unity and Individuality

Relationships are very important to you and are crucial for the unfolding of your personality; however they will never be the be all and end all, and you will never be defined by your relationship as you will always seek to develop a strong individual identity separate from your partner, which means your partner has to be very secure.

3. You are Dynamic

An Aquarius woman is a work in progress, so when you meet your partner, he'll have to realize that you won't be the same person in 10 years' time, because you move with the times and you establish new needs and new modes of behavior.

An Aquarius woman is in tune with trends in society, and as you get older you will express your nature in a variety of different ways, so your partner has to be fascinated by your evolution and not threatened by it.

4. Earth Mother, not Mommy Dear

An Aquarius woman is not a motherly figure - while you can be an earth mother who performs her duties in terms of motherhood admirably, you are not the sort of person who wants to mother a partner, so you need partners who are stable, have a lot of common sense and who can stand on their own two feet.

You don't want to have to mollycoddle your partner as while you are turned on by the notion of rescuing or saving your partner, if they stay in a perpetual state of needing to be saved, you can get very bored and irritated with it.

5. Rising Above the Madness

As a rule an Aquarius woman cannot stay forever in a complicated relationship that's toxic and stuck in a groove - your spirit can never become tangled in a web of lies and deceit, as you always have to rise above these low vibrational things.

You constantly have to strive for a place of tolerance and reason, and while drama is exciting and passionate, it should always be part of you evolving as a couple - it should not just be a pointless struggle.

If your partner cannot grow emotionally, you can become psychologically indifferent to them and this is when the relationship tends to fade.

6. Finding Your Place in the World

An Aquarius woman has a burning desire to do something important with her life - you will decide to make your mark on the world or to do something humanitarian, charitable or value-orientated.

You definitely need the freedom to pursue goals outside of the relationship which have social context, and you need a partner who understands your need to be involved in social groups that aren't just for fun, but which have a clear social purpose.

Many Aquarius women are either political or perhaps interested in the environment or in activism of some sort, and a partner has to get used to you using your home as a meeting place, and going out to peruse these goals with a variety of other people, including men.

7. Flower Power

As you know, an Aquarius woman is not hung up on tradition and you won't mind eloping, having a gunshot wedding, having a Vegas wedding or hooking up with your guy in some unconventional way which maybe shocks or evens appalls others.

You don't believe in waking up at the end of someone else's life. You live to love and marry for love.

8. Feet on the Ground

While you are idealistic and while you enjoy relating emotionally on a deep level, you are basically sensible and practical in love.

You like to take life as it comes and you won't thrive with perpetual drama or in an angst-filled relationship.

Drama here and there is rather sexy, but the secret to long lasting love is a partner who loves you for your brain, your ideals and your attitude to life, and who isn't out to change you or dampen your spirit.

9. Marriage is a Joint Venture

It's very insulting for an Aquarius woman to be told that your husband or partner is telling you what to do, or controlling you, because your marriage is a union between two equals who participate in decision-making to their fullest extent.

An Aquarius woman is naturally independent in that you are go-getting, you know what your strengths are and you have confidence in yourself and in your decisions, so you will always need a partner who takes you seriously.

10. Marriage is the Beginning

An Aquarius woman often finds that she is able to enjoy freedom to a greater extent in marriage.

It's common for an Aquarius woman to discover that being married increases your feelings of inner ease, you let up on the pressure you used to put yourself under, and you and your husband can you unite as a team, empowered together.

You will value your marriage deeply, trusting that it will connect you to your destiny rather than keeping you from it.

11. The Mystery Must Linger

An Aquarius woman always enjoys a conundrum in love, you relish a chase and there's usually an element of a puzzle to figure out etc. in the courtship and getting to know your partner phase.

The best relationships are ones where you and your husband go on a journey together, where you are both into self-development, self-discovery and self-actualization.

It's very hard for you to be in a relationship where your partner or husband is very stuck, set in his ways, set in his opinions and is not growing or evolving on a spiritual and psychological level.

You like puzzles - when the relationship is no longer a puzzle but a predictable and bland landscape, you lose interest.
