Welcome To Your Moon Sign Guide!

Dear Sagittarius woman,

First of all, thank you for purchasing this guide.

If you had a chance to read some of my previous guides, you are aware of what motivates my work – a mission to help women across the globe find their true love and improve their relationships in a way they can feel fulfilled and happy.

I have managed to help thousands of women improve their relationships by sharing my insights of astrology and helping them understand their partners, and themselves, better.

There are several things in the powerful wisdom astrology holds that are crucial for understanding what we're really like, what we truly need, and how we can successfully thrive in love.

The first step is understanding your sun sign. Since you're reading this guide, you should have already tapped into the insights I shared on your sun sign in the Sagittarius Love Secrets guide...

The next step is discovering what your moon sign reveals about you... The moon in our natal charts, represents our emotions... Our inner mood. It tells us how you're most likely to express your feelings, and it reveals what you need in love in order to feel good...

Your moon sign will show you the exact traits of a relationship where you will feel most comfortable.

When you tap into the insights of the two (your sun and moon sign), you will finally understand so many things about your past relationship experiences... Why they didn't work, why you felt in a certain way. And finally, you will understand what you NEED right now and in your future relationships...

So, let's understand what your soul really longs for, and what kind of relationship is ideal for you,

I'm honored that you've decided to take this journey of self-discovery and search of true love with me,

Lots of love,

Anna Kovach

What Can The Moon Tell Us?

Dear Reader,

Do you know that the sun, ascendant and the moon are the most important influences in your chart? Of course major aspects, rulers and planets near the ascendant are also key, but you cannot get away from the influence of the moon, especially in relationships.

The moon represents emotions, security, safety and long-term relationships, and attachment figures. The moon also represents the mother or mother figure, and the effect our very first bonding relationship with, usually our mother, had on us.

You can see why the moon is so important in love already, from this brief description.

The moon also represents patterns of behavior we set up in childhood, the effect childhood experiences had on us and how we still carry those reflex emotional reactions and memories with us.

While the sun is the future, the moon is the past - it is our roots and our background. While we need to grow into the sun, we can never forget where we came from, and that is the moon.

Moon signs in combination with sun signs tell us how comfortable we are with expressing emotion or giving nourishment. Are we in touch with our intuition and feeling nature or do we keep emotions at bay?

The moon is symbolic of our deepest emotional patterns, our needs, and our automatic responses. The moon has a bearing on how we form attachments and what we need from others to make us secure.

It is about how we give ourselves self-care and how we are able to parent ourselves, which will have a direct bearing on how we react in relationships.

The moon also represents home life, community, family matters, and the way our immediate environment affects us.

So let's start the journey of understanding how your sun and moon sign work together and how that affects life and relationships. Each chapter has character traits, relationship themes and suggested combinations.

I hope that this additional information will give you confidence in romance and in life.

Love and Light,

Your astrologer and sister,

Anna.

Sagittarius Lady With Aries Moon

This is a very good position for internal balance and this bodes well for relationships with men and for marriage.

You are not as prone to inner conflict as other Sagittarius moon-sun combos, and your head and heart are generally on the same page.

This indicates physical vitality and good health, stamina, and recuperative powers. Whatever your health concerns are, you will be able to grow out of them or overcome them. Positivity is central to your strong constitution.

This cosmic combo promotes self-confidence and optimism.

This indicates a positive relationship with your family and that you received support from them growing up, and that they fostered good self-discipline, responsibility and independence.

You have a strong sense of purpose and you are easily able to create harmonious relationships, possibly due to a good balance of the yin and the yang within you.

Whatever your stresses and anxieties are, you know how to deal with them rather than obsessively worrying about them.

Your romantic relationships generally bring pleasure and you will have a great relationship with your children.

It takes excitement, competition, challenge and success to nourish you emotionally. Too much routine, repetition and mundane chores result in headaches and other ailments, ultimately depression.

You need the freedom to be yourself, be in control of your own life and to feel that you are living a worthwhile existence.

Work and activity do not scare you; you love to be active and have an athletic physique, and no one can accuse you of being lazy. You must have a mission, as without a goal or something to challenge you, you feel listless and depressed.

You never mark time, you find it imperative to occupy your time in a productive way. You are full of purpose and relish having something exciting to put your teeth into.

You are a natural leader and are often the first to take the initiative and to make the first move to approach someone - you want to get things on the move.

A moon in fire needs a sense of meaning, an imaginative connection with a higher purpose, and you want to feel part of something larger and more significant than the mundane world. You instinctively want to vitalize reality with drama and imagination - what crushes you is a banal, meaningless existence.

You take a bold and courageous approach to life, and your enthusiasm and innate optimism and positivity are wonderful characteristics.

You are a very proactive person, unlikely to let life get you down for too long - you won't wait for someone to pick you up. You will drag yourself up, dust yourself off and get going again - tomorrow is always a new day.

Impatience and temper are part and parcel of an Aries moon.

Having an Aries moon, you need to express yourself openly and honestly, to assert your individuality and to be enthusiastically involved in new projects and activities.

This is not an easy position; you may have counter-dependent tendencies, often denying your need for closeness and intimacy and attempting to be emotionally self-sufficient.

When deep feelings and needs emerge, you may unconsciously fend them off with anger, impulsive action or sexual expression. Anger is very often the first emotion you feel when in a difficult or threatening situation.

Like other Aries moon and sun combinations, you demand honesty and you speak your mind.

Your expectations can be high and you get bored fast. It can be a rush to keep up with you, as you are always darting in a new direction.

You are very adventurous and often dive in headfirst to new ventures. You act first and think later. You are a great sales person, you really do talk the talk but rarely do you walk the walk.

You can exaggerate and, although you seem to know what you are talking about, it may be all hot air. You enjoy risk, even though you will rationalize that risk when you speak about it to your partner.

You may read voraciously or follow sports or foreign affairs in depth – you get avidly involved in matters that inspire you.

You have confidence as both parents gave you the go-ahead and fostered your independent, adventurous side. You can appear arrogant, and you may enjoy being an exhibitionist.

You have an excellent sense of humor and love to entertain others and make them laugh. You are an eternal optimist who sees the upside and is highly future orientated.

You make a great comedian, as you have this knack of uncovering and then pointing out uncomfortable truths and hypocrisy.

You are a generous lady and you love to socialize and enjoy life – you live life to the full, but can also be a bit of a handful.

You are never happy to accept dull answers; you go looking for answers that make sense to you. Your key phrase is WHY?

Sagittarius Lady with Taurus Moon

While this combination is high energy and passionate, it often leads to relationships where there is an attraction, but also a disconnect, and where you end up having separate lives – this of course can work very well, no one said you have to live in each other's pockets.

False hope and blind spots can be thorns in your side – you are plagued by an inability to bring logic and intuition in line as you will tend to side with one or the other depending on what you need to see at that point in your life.

Problems tend to become more complex as you linger or over-analyze; often the scenarios you create in your head are far worse than what could happen. You should try to act faster and create clarity for yourself and those about you.

You are change-orientated – you are a work in progress and may change quite radically while you are with a partner or married.

This moon-sun position makes you very industrious and hard-working. A Sagittarius lady with Taurus moon has an overriding need to be productive and to feel useful - when you do not feel that you are being productive, depression can set in.

This combo indicates a very loyal, sincere person, with consistent emotions. As a child, you needed lots of hugs and physical demonstrations of love from your parents.

If this was not forthcoming, you may have grown up to be ashamed of or insecure about your body, leading to intimacy problems.

Sagittarius with Taurus moon is a lot more in need of routine and ritual than other combos, and you can be very superstitious. Of all the Sagittarius moon-sun combos, you are the most likely to want to settle down and commit.

You are reliable, dependable and stable. A Taurus moon is an excellent counterbalance to the sometimes more wild and unrestrained part of the Sagittarian nature.

You do have to watch out for excess eating and spending as you do have a huge appetite for fine things. You are a lover of nature, and may desire to live on a farm or work with animals or agriculture.

You have a sixth sense in business and your money-making instincts are also very well-developed.

You have a strong need for financial and material security in order to be content and happy emotionally; however you must learn not to fly too high, too far, too soon.

You tend to be very attached to belongings and may hoard. Unlike other Sagittarius ladies, you can be very possessive and dislike sharing. Your emotions are mostly steady and placid, and you make for a loving, warm and helpful partner.

Getting organized and getting things off the ground can be the hardest part for you, and you would benefit from an Aries or Cancer partner, however once you get going you are steadfast and very determined.

Persistence means that a Taurus moon sees things to the conclusion, and you cannot say that of all Sagittarians.

You attract wealth and material comforts. You will seek a stable home environment with strong and lasting relationships being the key to your happiness.

You make sacrifices for love and you do your best to maintain a happy atmosphere in the relationship, but you may avoid tricky issues at the expense of achieving real growth and truer understanding.

True security based on self-esteem and self-confidence, emotional warmth, sensual stimulation and using your inner talents and potentials is what you need.

You need to stop avoiding things; don't be an ostrich in love, tackle problems more pro-actively. You have to learn that no amount of material or external wealth can create true security which comes from within.

If a Taurus moon Sagittarius lady does not realize this, you become workaholics, constantly driven to earning more money and acquiring more material comforts, resisting change at all costs, none of which brings true fulfilment.

Company, friendship and deep emotional relationships fulfil you. This combo loves to give love.

Both these signs bring out an opinionated side, and you can be quite dogmatic and may have many views on which you just will not budge. You can be critical and belligerent and are quick to anger when your beliefs are challenged.

You enjoy life and have great plans for yourself and your children. Your life should mean something and be special, that is how you see it. You are highly sympathetic to others and like to jump on board good causes and help out.

You can easily be taken for a ride by the more dubious types out there, as you are very trusting. You are a soft-hearted lady who is a pleasure to be around, as you give a great deal of yourself and are warm and respectful – you hate anyone to be unhappy or excluded.

You have charisma and charm and will be surrounded by loyal friends who adore you. You can never say NO, and that may mean you get saddled with unwanted guests or obligations.

Your constant self-questioning and self-criticism can lack any relation to reality and your need for reassurance is constant.

You are driven to be productive and could be a workaholic. You are always writing notes and journaling in diaries to keep track of how you are doing, and it never seems to be enough.

You put yourself under a great deal of pressure and never appear to find satisfaction – you may be convinced the grass is greener elsewhere, and that can make you restless and you may end up chasing your tail.

You are a work in progress and are always looking for ways to better yourself or make your life more relevant. You may have an inflated sense of your own importance, and could be entitled. Your views can be held and defended with some ferocity.

Self-analysis is vital for you in order to define where you 'fit in'. You have great strength and will never lose your inner confidence. You can get too involved in things you cannot change, and thus you need to develop more detachment.

Sagittarius Lady With Gemini Moon

This combination can often create a battle between the head and the heart. Emotionally and logically you are not always on the same page, and this leads to a stop/start motion to life.

You have strong perceptions but you do not always trust your insights and intuition.

The past and past behavior patterns can often be a drag in terms of forward momentum. You can get stuck in modes of behavior that are more about who you once were rather than who you can be.

There is often emotional insecurity, and with that your actions will not always make sense to others and may seem erratic. I think your emotions always make sense to you, but they are not easy to explain to others.

This aspect results in perpetual change and restlessness; it is very hard for you to find satisfaction.

Identity is always a key issue for you and you will strive to meld a role and a unique identity for yourself. Relationships tend not to be easy or straightforward and they awaken many latent conflicts within you, which demand attention. You are attracted to love partners who jar or shake you up in some way.

Family and your domestic life can tend to block your creativity and self-expression. Early family conditions can make getting on with the opposite sex very hard in later life.

You value your privacy and are capable of considerable emotional intensity and passion. You feel the urge to probe beneath the surface of experience.

Your outstanding qualities are resourcefulness, endurance and strength of character. During your life you will experience emotional extremes, plummeting to the depths of experience and thereby awakening and learning about your intense power.

You are a very idealistic person who yearns for a world of beauty and reason - a life which is too restrictive, disciplined or regimented is stifling for you and a sure way to depression.

You are very sensitive and react with great distress to the confusion and ambiguity found in human relationships - you want straightforwardness and honesty.

Although you want contact with others, you shy away from emotional situations which are too complex or delicate. Isolation upsets you, but so do powerful feelings.

You need breathing space in relationships and feel very uncomfortable when someone becomes too intense, clingy and manipulative - this will make you withdraw from the other person. You cannot stand undercurrents or covert game playing.

When threatened with too much intimacy, you can become evasive, analytical and dissociated. Your evasiveness is a defense against the threat of emotional pain.

When faced with an emotional confrontation you find it easier to change the subject or to try and reduce complicated issues into black and white formulae. You must have private space in relationships.

Too much restriction, structure and depression around you can leave you hopeless and apathetic. You are not very demonstrative and you need emotional withdrawal, so a very emotionally demanding partner is no good for you.

One of your parents may have been changeable, inconsistent and prone to rationalizing rather than expressing feelings.

This parent may have been restless, nervous, highly strung or preoccupied with trivia, and they would have encouraged your mental and verbal abilities and provided you with considerable stimulation and challenge.

You may attract a man who is very similar to this parent and while he may excite you but not offer you emotional support.

With your sun and moon in opposite signs, at times you can be very out of balance indeed and during these phases you are very difficult to be around. Your relationships can be love hate, where you swing from satisfaction to frustration.

Love life is often the space where you are more volatile. You may struggle to incorporate your receptive side and may become too Alpha at the expense of more subtle emotions.

On the other hand, you could go totally the opposite way and be an old softy who allows your man to walk all over you – there tends to be no happy medium. Relations with women can be stormier than with men.

This moon combo indicates a change-orientated adventure seeker who loves to pick up and go and who seeks excitement and stimulation relentlessly.

Your boredom can be a curse as in the quest to keep it at bay, you may do many ill-advised things. You leap before you look, as impulsiveness is your driving trait.

You are a free spirit who will not be confined or contained by rules. You are a lady who your partner cannot control or rely on in a practical way.

Your intentions are good, and you are not someone who aims to hurt anyone, although in love you wound others by virtue of your inability to commit and emotional wanderlust which causes you to let many people down.

You are often so focused on the future or on your next move that you fail to see the beauty in the moment. You are not a lady who wants to cuddle for hours on the sofa; you require new stimuli on a continual basis.

Your playful, quirky spirit is highly attractive, and because you are positive and always engaged in something which appears to be exciting, you are a magnet for friends and male admirers.

At heart you are quite anxious and you really do need a partner who can provide some structure and a guiding influence without crushing your exuberant spirit.

You are a lucky person, and tend to make the right decisions on the spur of the moment. You are forgetful and often careless about details - this can make you far too unreliable for the earth and fixed signs.

It is very hard for your partner to know what you really feel and where he stands with you and you may struggle to explain yourself - that is, if he can even get you on the spot for long enough.

Sagittarius Lady With Cancer Moon

While this combination is high energy and passionate, it often leads to relationships where there is an attraction, but also a disconnect, and where you end up having separate lives – this of course can work very well, as no one said you have to live in each other's pockets.

False hope and blind spots can be thorns in your side – you are plagued by an inability to bring logic and intuition in line, as you will tend to side with one or the other depending on what you need to see at that point in your life.

Problems tend to become more complex as you linger or over-analyze - often the scenarios you create in your head are far worse than what could happen. You should try to act faster and create clarity for yourself and those about you.

You are change orientated – you are a work in progress and may change quite radically while you are with a partner or married.

You are very sensitive to the feelings of those around you - people often confide in you or cry on your shoulder, as you are very sympathetic and show a very sincere concern for others.

You may well have psychic ability.

On the negative side, being over-sensitive can mean that you can on occasion be too touchy and may take offence too readily, imagining things or reading too much into another's behavior.

This over-sensitivity can lead you to withdraw and not to exhibit the more gregarious side of Sagittarius. You can put up a very uppity, cool and haughty mask when your feelings have been hurt.

This placement often indicates allergies, especially food allergies. The stomach can be your weak area - emotional upsets and worry usually manifest as stomach upsets or ulcers.

You may experience many emotional highs and lows and you are extremely restless – it takes a lot to satisfy you emotionally, which is why you have to exaggerate everything you experience. You can get drawn to rollercoaster relationships with dopamine highs.

You may be drawn to men who are 'mother' figures, who care for and comfort you. You thrive with emotional closeness and a loving and tender family environment.

When you are feeling vulnerable or have been hurt, you may be inclined to eat for gratification or perhaps exaggerate to make others sorry for you, or you may retreat into studies or literature.

Alternatively, you may seek satisfaction through compulsively helping and nurturing others, hoping that they will do something for you in return.

Family is tremendously important and disruptions or family troubles are very traumatic for you.

It is important to learn to communicate and verbalize your feelings instead of expecting others to guess what you are feeling.

Feelings and emotions need to be respected and talked out, not explained away or put aside in favor of logic and reason. You must take your feelings seriously, and know that they matter - know the worth and truth of your own heart and don't wait for others to validate your feelings.

You have a very definite purpose in life and are incredibly honest and direct. You have a strong desire to improve the life of those around you in practical ways.

Your nature is to investigate tenaciously, and to uncover what is obscure. You seek to regenerate and come up with solutions and new ideas or approaches to problems. You are eager to educate others from the perspective of your own experience.

You are receptive to emotional and intellectual stimuli and are a quick learner. You are a nature lover who may have very good survival instincts, in terms of surviving in the wilderness. You love the outdoors and may enjoy camping, hunting, hiking or even cross-country rallying. You are great at improvising and finding practical solutions.

You love a mystery, and anything undiscovered or undercover intrigues you. You have a penchant for sexual trivia and may be very talented in the bedroom.

You are rather a hot number sexually. You are red blooded and quite passionate. You are kind-hearted and have a good nature, but you are no pushover and you can be a fearsome opponent if you are crossed.

You are idealistic and thus quite easy to disappoint, and you view disloyalty in a very poor light.

While you appear daring, you are actually rather controlled and have always calculated the risks before you act. You are broadly friendly and tolerant, but you know who not to trust, indeed you give everyone a chance, but you are not naive.

You are a dreamer; you can also get immersed in projects and may lose all perspective and so you need a grounded, cheerful partner who accepts your occasionally eccentric behaviour.

You match well with Aquarians, Scorpio, Pisces and Gemini.

The real world tends to disappoint you and so you need both adventure and fantasy.

While you need a grounded partner, you also must have a partner who also sees the bigger picture and who wants to let logic off the leash and contemplate the spiritual and the universal.

You are inclined to religion and faith, you have a sense of the eternal and are interested in life after death.

Sagittarius Lady With Leo Moon

A very good position for internal balance and this bodes well for relationships with men and for marriage.

You are not as prone to inner conflict as other Leo moon-sun combos and your head and heart are generally on the same page.

This indicates physical vitality and good health, stamina and recuperative powers. Whatever your health concerns are, you will be able to grow out of them or overcome them. Positivity is central to your strong constitution.

This cosmic combo promotes self-confidence and optimism. This indicates a positive relationship with your family and that you received support from them growing up, and they fostered good self-discipline, responsibility and independence.

You have a strong sense of purpose and you are easily able to create harmonious relationships, possibly due to a good balance of the yin and the yang within you.

Whatever your stresses and anxieties are, you know how to deal with them rather than obsessively worrying about them.

Your romantic relationships generally bring pleasure, and you will have a great relationship with your children.

Your need to love and be loved is a healthy emotional drive and makes for a very sunny and pleasant disposition and constructive expression. You want your children to be successful and your home to be a showpiece of beauty and art.

A Sagittarius lady with moon in Leo particularly needs to feel loved and appreciated, to be treated specially, to play and to express yourself spontaneously and creatively.

You need warmth and devotion, and are able to give abundantly from your heart as long as you are also fed with love.

When not fed with love, you may begin to compulsively seek attention and power - you may be unable to relinquish center stage and may over-dramatize in order to impact others, or perhaps become dominating or bossy in your attempt to maintain control over yourself and others.

A Leo moon suggests that you had loving parental figures who prized you highly and were enthusiastically involved in your activities and triumphs, and who shared and encouraged your playful spirit.

At one extreme there is the mother who spoils you with too much attention and too many special treats, peppering you with unrealistic expectations of relationships and attachment figures.

At the other extreme are narcissistic parents who only want you to be an obedient servant, or who want you to live out their dreams discouraging your individuality – this brand of parenting creates a desire within you to please a partner at all costs.

You have quite a stubborn, arrogant streak and you can have some quite dramatic outbursts of temper, especially when your pride has been wounded or your feelings hurt.

You tend to dominate others (especially when it comes to moral leadership) and like to be in control; you like to have the reins in your hands. You are highly susceptible to flattery.

Your need to love and be loved is a healthy emotional drive, and makes for a very sunny and pleasant disposition and constructive expression.

You are strongly drawn to spiritual issues and recognize the need for moral values in your life. You are a very ethical and noble person; however parental attitudes may actually limit the breadth of your spiritual understanding in youth.

Your convictions are based more on feeling than on reason or learning. You are fond of travel and may well take up residence in a foreign country.

You have an uncanny ability to foretell the outcome towards which events are leading. You are drawn to the areas of philosophy and religion and have an intuitive grasp of these concepts.

You have a craving for more understanding and a greater grasp of life and its meaning. Although you may rely on a faith which you have inherited via the family, you have the ability to adapt your beliefs to changing conditions and influences.

You know that there must be more to life and need a philosophy to guide you through. You are set on material achievement and being a 'somebody!' This moon-sun lady is all about ego, and you have one of the biggest.

You are very good at assembling a team of confidantes around you and instilling them with confidence then setting goals and targets. You get what you want as you are so determined.

You are very optimistic, and you tend to jump first without thinking, always relying on the fact you will land on your feet.

You aim for the stars and set the bar high; you are very competitive and you will probably gravitate to professions where you command respect i.e. policeman, teacher, politician, professor or doctor. You are very opinionated and think quite a lot of yourself, which is why positions of authority feel like your natural domain.

Your cheerful and positive demeanor mean others are attracted to you and hold you in high regard.

You are very upfront and have few inhibitions; you throw yourself into activities wholeheartedly, and yet often you run out of steam and find excuses to rush off in another direction.

You may make promises with good intentions, but keep the champagne on ice - you may not keep them as you tend to lose enthusiasm and transfer energy elsewhere.

When you do anything, you do it big – you will win or lose in spectacular fashion, but things can descend into farce as much of this drive for the grandiose is self-indulgent. You crave attention, and may even be a little egotistical at times.

You are very focused on activity and the world, and spend little time on introspection, and so you may not know yourself that well. You do not always think everything through or take time to develop better emotional awareness – of yourself or others.

You think you know it all and, like many Leo moon ladies, do not take advice, and that can be a problem as your judgement is not always good. Your impatience can make this even worse as so little time is allocated to weighing up options.

Your early romances are marked by naiveté and they tend to be wild or even risqué. In love you are very enthusiastic, and you want to wow your beau; you are not put off by rejection and you love a chase.

The more unlikely a romance, the more excited about it you are. You do need to grow up and accept more responsibility and be more considered.

Sagittarius Lady With Virgo Moon

Your sun and moon are linked in a somewhat stressful way, which leads to many emotional battles and head/heart conflicts, which means listening to your inner voice is harder.

You may find it hard to get what you want, especially in love, as you have a lot of internal contradictions.

You may find relationships hamper your self-expression and it may not always be easy for you to find a comfortable place emotionally in love relationships.

Family life can be topsy-turvy and often events in your family life unsettle you and make it hard for you to fulfil ambitions.

You may question your decisions in love, so you need to develop more confidence in your ability to love, be accepted and receive love.

Stop asking yourself so many questions and learn to relax and not to second guess yourself in relationships.

Trust yourself to make the right decisions and don't always think, "What if?"

Sagittarius with moon in Virgo is strongly influenced and motivated by family matters. Your parents may well be very important to you, and they may influence or even control you emotionally.

When the moon is in an earthy sign like Virgo, ritual and routine become very important - whether it be an exercise routine, dietary ritual or the particular order in which you get ready in the morning - these rituals provide security and a sense of continuity.

Consistency (intellectual and emotional) is very important to one with a Virgo moon; you do not take well to upheaval and sudden changes in your lifestyle and environment. A sense of security is essential to your wellbeing and health. You have a deep, inbuilt resistance to material change.

You can become quite obsessive, especially when you are feeling stressed - sometimes excessive attention to detail and ritualistic behavior is the way you cope with stress and anxiety or material upheaval.

A Virgo moon loves to analyze emotions; sometimes this you can overdo this, as not all emotions and feelings can be boxed up and categorized.

You love intellectual stimulation in relationships and love to talk about emotional issues. You can, however, keep your true emotions very secret, as you are controlled.

You pay a lot of attention to detail and are always happy to help and serve others. However, beware of doing too much to help others, don't allow your giving nature to be taken advantage of. You are very curious; however you don't ask personal questions.

All earth moons have a burning need to be useful - there is an instinctive drive to be occupied and not to waste time, you must be doing something even if it is helping others rather than yourself.

The Sagittarian and Virgo energy combined give a quest for knowledge, and a desire to have a positive impact on others, strangers and friends alike. You have a powerful social conscience and deep need to have an impact on your fellow man.

The moon in earth signs is highly tactile and sensuous, and there is a strong need for physical affection and stimulus of the senses.

Sometimes people with a moon in Virgo can feel self-conscious about their bodies and thus inhibited in physical contact.

Virgo moon ladies may be are highly controlled, but even so you are extremely sensuous, albeit discriminating about where you find your pleasures.

There is a basic need for touch and physical pleasure, which should not be denied. If your family was undemonstrative or inhibited or perhaps judgmental, then you may react with feelings of deep shame about your sexual needs and functions.

It is very easy for a Sagittarius Virgo moon to find satisfaction and contentment - provided you consider natural needs and develop them.

Even if afflicted by apparently deeply complicated problems, you need to find out what pleases your body and gives real satisfaction and contentment - often these basic needs have been undervalued and other supposedly more meaningful pursuits have taken priority.

The foundation of your life depends for its strength on your appreciation of the reality of the body, and the mundane things which give you a feeling of pleasure and safety.

You are restless and curious, you never stand still, and yet you may chase after the impossible, ending up wasting energy and never achieving much.

You can be very cool under pressure and tend to have good instincts under pressure. This is one of the more competitive Virgo moon placements. You are capable of great wisdom as long as you can maintain perspective, as often you are guilty of only looking at the facts which suit your preconceived ideas.

You are very impressive in terms of first impressions and are an entertaining date – your partner may, however, find out after a while that you are not quite as free and easy as you first made out, as like all Virgo moons you have a critical and fussy side.

You make a talented salesman as you are so persuasive, and you can talk others into almost anything, and so one must hold on tight to their dreams or else they may end up chasing yours with you.

The conflict between the Sagittarian and Virgo natures may lead to some risk taking and even depression resulting from boredom as it is hard for you to find contentment.

Your childhood may not have been carefree and there is a desire to sow wild oats in adulthood, and yet these exciting forays may not fulfil you as much as you had hoped.

You are not as daring when it comes to intimate matters as you are in other areas of your life, and you can be very shy in the bedroom.

You may clown about, make jokes or perhaps pretend you are too tired as you lack confidence sexually, and are hopeless at putting on the moves. Your partner will have to tempt you and get you to relax.

You enjoy competition and may be mad about sports or extreme exercise.

You are honest and direct, and rarely beat about the bush. You can struggle to reconcile the more daring and expansive side of your personality with the anxious side that is prone to self-criticism and worry; however, you will seek the answers in books, philosophy or religion or dedication to a cause.

Sagittarius Lady With Libra Moon

Your sun and moon are in compatible signs and this enhances your ability to communicate and establish a friendly compatibility in relationships.

This aspect greatly enhances your ability to form lasting and positive relationships as your yin and yang are in harmony, and you are more likely to have imbibed positive messages about relationships from your parents. You find it easier to get satisfaction in love than those with the sun and moon in conflicting signs.

You are a good parent, and you enjoy bringing up children alongside your partner who you cooperate with easily. You will embrace your family and friends and will want a harmonious relationship with all your contacts.

You have a great deal of inner peace and harmony, which temper the more fiery traits of Sagittarius. You are in general even-tempered and kind-spirited in love.

A moon in Libra Sagittarius lady is very comfortable in all social settings – you need people around you, and companionship and close relationships are essential for you. You love company.

You have a knack of making friends and are very popular. You are the diplomatic Sagittarius lady with good judgement in how to deal with every situation, and you know how to broker deals and compromises.

You can be very persuasive and have the sensitivity to know just how far you can go with people. You are a natural in every social setting – skills others battle to develop i.e. manners, hospitality, grace and diplomacy come naturally to you.

Intellectual and social stimulation are essential to your wellbeing –when the moon is in air, you have the need to circulate and pick up on the ideas and thoughts of others.

People and relationships between them fascinate you. You are always relaxed and at peace when talking and sharing with others.

You are instinctively fair and just, and you have an inbuilt sense of right and wrong which seldom leads you astray. People know you as always good-natured, fair-minded and strong-willed.

If you had parents who valued you highly and enjoyed pleasing you and fostering your intellectual side by appreciating your opinions, you will be likely to develop strong relationships based on mutual respect.

However, if a parent was only superficially available to you, then you may seek to gain from a partner what you never had from a parent.

This can lead to an overdependence on your partner for approval and the inclination to please at all costs – a desire to try and be indispensable and to satisfy every need.

This creates a huge amount of stress and is bound to create disappointment, as others can never truly give us what we are not able to give ourselves. No one can ever give you anything – you have it all inside.

You may be inclined to avoid expressing anger and confronting pain, and thus suppress these feelings as you feel they may threaten your relationships or the harmony and peace which are so important to your sense of wellbeing.

Truly satisfying relationships are only achieved when you develop a secure relationship with and understanding of yourself – accept as valid your own feelings and needs, and be willing to assert yourself even when you may fear that this will result in temporary discord.

Temporary disharmony and imbalance are essential in order to establish a more enduring and deeper personal harmony, which is exclusive from the reliance on others.

You are charismatic and firm yet not pushy; you are quite obstinate, but this you conceal well at first. You have a sense of what is fair and right, and that gives you integrity.

You enjoy many hobbies and are rather a relaxed, easygoing character. You may forfeit many goals if you feel that pursuing them will create conflict, and this produces much frustration.

You may take refuge in food or drink, and can be quite indulgent when emotionally unfulfilled. This placement does incline you to gain weight as you have a sweet tooth and believe in pleasure, and that includes pleasures of the palate.

You may not be the most attentive or devoted lover as you seek stimulation and adventure from love more than closeness, and yet you are keen on long-term relationships as long as they keep evolving and your partner never holds you back.

You are very independent minded and have an abiding self-belief that makes you less dependent on approval than other Libra moon women.

You have a magnetic spirit and enthusiasm, and love to spread happiness; you are good to be around.

Open-minded and idealistic, you rouse others to action, but you do have a serious side and you can become distant when something is troubling you, which can be quite often.

You have luck, which is just as well as you can be impractical and may over-promise or over commit. You often let people down as you underestimate difficulties, and yet folks still believe in you and give you a second chance.

You may have wonderful money-making ideas, yet a lack of follow through or attention to detail can leave an unholy mess and your partner may have to pick up the pieces.

Your social or political projects can also cost money and results may be hard to assertion. As you can tell, you may not be practical or down to earth.

Men love your humor, your warmth and your stories, and you are a great host and quite an entertainer. You know a lot about everything as you read and seek knowledge.

Sagittarius Lady With Scorpio Moon

This sun/moon combination creates an intense awareness of the need to adjust and the pace of relationships is stop/start as you feel your way forward.

Your ego needs and your emotions are often at odds and you attract experiences in love, which challenge you and your perception of yourself.

You often have to have a reset where you stop and reassess - don't feel guilty about calling for time out in relationships.

You are susceptible to being manipulated by guilt and this may lead you into many situations which feel "no win". You adapt to others in relationships and can be self-sacrificing, often because you don't understand your needs, and can be pushed into an emotional corner by your partner.

Indecision pervades relationships and it takes you a long while to commit.

You must take your emotions seriously and know that they matter. Your partner must appreciate your emotions and not force you to be always rational and logical - emotions are not logical and rational.

Suppressing your highly emotional nature will lead to psychological problems and neurosis.

You need to find a creative way of releasing and expressing your emotions - it is very negative to hold them in - through expressing them you will learn about them and learn to control them.

As you repress them, they become more furious and explosive. You are a natural psychologist and should make a study of psychology if you can, as it will help you to understand your own complex emotional nature.

This is a very psychic combination and you may have strong ESP or clairvoyant abilities.

If your emotions are blocked, you may become deeply manipulative to make sure that you get the necessary care and attention. Often this backfires as people back away when they feel manipulated - resulting in your worst fear.

Very often with this combo, there is a cool or rejecting parent in the background, which the pain of has been internalized, so when there is the least sign of rejection from a loved one it rubs salt into the old wound.

A demanding parent may have negatively influenced your ability to receive nurturance and nourish yourself. One of your parents may have been hostile and punitive, making you develop considerable mistrust and learning to keep feelings and other things hidden.

Childhood conditioning may have been manifested in a "be tough" attitude, which prevented you from receiving the tenderness and care you needed.

There is fear of surrendering and losing control; this may cause you to keep your true emotions strictly out of sight, afraid to show any vulnerable facets of yourself lest someone play on them.

You are determined not to let anyone find your Achilles heel, as you are innately cynical about fellow humans. This fear can hold you back from establishing a true union.

You long for intimacy and a close and intense union, so you may not respect your own boundaries or those of others and that causes problems in relationships.

You can't expect one person to provide that constant and unconditional acceptance, love and forgiveness you cannot give yourself. You must respect your own feelings and not look to others to heal that parental wound.

You must value what you feel and not look for outside approval.

You value your privacy and are capable of considerable emotional intensity and passion. You feel the urge to probe beneath the surface of experience. Your outstanding qualities are resourcefulness, endurance, and strength of character.

During your life, you will experience emotional extremes, plummeting to the depths of experience and thereby awakening and learning about your intense power.

It takes time to get your respect, which has to be earned. Once you lose respect for someone, it is very hard for them to win it back. You have strong feelings of like and dislike towards people.

You are capable of great feats of self-sacrifice and humanitarian feats, but you often don't really understand what drives you to do what you do.

You are good at sensing trends and responding to what others may still be unaware of. Your downfall is your knack of getting involved in the secret lives of others or having too many secrets of your own.

However, it is because you get bored quickly that you enjoy cultivating some unusual hobbies or even some wacky friends or clandestine relationships to keep boredom at arm's length.

You are a rebel with a cause and you find many causes to espouse; you see doing good deeds as part of a potential salvation, as you feel guilty about many of your ill-advised forays in life and love.

Your conceited attitude can ruin some of your efforts to do good; you can be too keen to do things your own way to see what is best for everyone.

You are a dreamer who works well with concepts and can also use images to inspire and motivate others – you communicate on many levels, and your ability to inspire and give others a glimpse of your vision is your special talent.

You are able to be kind and helpful, but you retain some prejudices which may hamper you from getting more out of life. You are not as open-minded as you like to make out – you do have a sense of how you want to be perceived, which is not how you actually are.

You are a prisoner to the past, as you will not deal with some of the events which shaped you, and thus they become like broken records which play over and over, until you stop them with conscious effort.

Sagittarius Lady With Sagittarius Moon

A Sagittarius sun and moon lady is like two different people and it's ideal if you find a partner who is easily bored, enjoys life at its most random and has a high level of patience.

You are less likely than other Sagittarius ladies to make up your mind with speed. You need a constant flow of people into your life and you do not always follow through with every new venture or relationship you start.

You were born in the new moon phase - this heightens your spontaneity and you will like to fly by the seat of your pants.

You thrive when life is dynamic, and are not a person to follow a plan; you prefer to follow your heart and this makes you very flexible and adaptable, but also quite unpredictable. You are most successful when you are spur of the moment.

You look at life as one endless stream of potential, and you are quite adventurous. You like to live moment to moment and are not a person who looks back or dwells. You may have a terrible memory, partly because the past is just not important to you.

You are very sympathetic as a person, and have a very humane side. You need badly to be needed and your quest to fit in can make you lose sense of who or what you are. You may try and be what you think others want you to be.

This is a great, healthy moon position! It indicates a generous, open and altruistic nature.

The Sagittarian restlessness is emphasized, and you thrive in a dynamic environment. This suggests that your sense of security is not derived only from routine and material stability, but you are quite good at adapting to change and even welcome it.

You thrive on developing your understanding, and discovering and actualizing new possibilities. You are able to feel at home in most places; in fact, you are likely to set up home far from where you were brought up.

Having a Sagittarius sun/moon usually indicates that both of your parents have foreign blood, giving you an international flavor from birth. Throughout your life you will be drawn to foreign cultures and places - you do not identify yourself wholly and solely as a member of one national group.

You aspire to high and noble goals, and have a very idealistic nature. Your faith is strong and so is your ability to intuitively grasp spiritual concepts.

You are able to take that leap of faith required to get beyond the "seeing is believing" mentality. You are optimistic and cheerful. You enjoy social occasions and have a wide circle of friends. You seek to rise above your difficulties with humor and camaraderie with others.

You must be wary of the fact that sometimes your social values may distort your objectivity in assessing people and situations. You can be guilty of a 'holier than thou' attitude on occasion, believing that your views/morals are in some way superior.

When your real needs are not met or when you feel vulnerable in relationships, you may indulge in behavior which involves procrastination or avoiding immediate issues by concentrating on the future, the abstract or escapism.

Preoccupation with ideals or goals rather than current issues, intellectualizing and philosophizing continuously, or moving restlessly from thing to thing and person to person on an endless quest to avoid responsibility and fill an inner emptiness can be descriptive of phases of your life.

It is likely that your influential parent provided you with a philosophical framework from which to view your life, and also filled you with a love of exploration.

However, they may have also been afraid of emotional closeness and taken refuge in their own 'dream' world, thus appearing somewhat disconnected or distant mentally from you as a child.

You may have been indulged rather than fed emotionally – leading you to associate love with excess.

Parents may have been inclined to preach rather than teach and may have issued many "should" or "should-nots" which were not quite in keeping with your own natural instincts.

You need to do a certain amount of re-parenting of yourself; creating your own morality and philosophy which is distinct from your parents', and using that philosophy to come to terms with your feelings and needs rather than suppressing them.

Learn to be generous to yourself and as well as others - you are great at being the good Samaritan, but often you forget to 'rescue yourself'.

Finding an internal guiding spirit to lead and inspire you is important. Follow your intuition and live your life according to your own unique philosophy, "What you believe is true for you!"

You need a practical partner to handle day to day things as you are such a dreamer that your mind is always somewhere else. You really are a last minute dot com kinda lady, often late and often totally overlooking the details.

Your desire for freedom takes many forms - you may see wealth or fame as potentially bringing that freedom, you may pursue it via free speech and politics or via endless travel, but your desire to maintain this ocean of endless possibility before you is often a driving force in your life.

You are the court jester who loves to clown around and play the fool, and you are a natural comic who can diffuse situations via humor and you also use that humor to cheer others up and motivate.

You are excellent at working with people, especially as a motivator and educator. You lead by example and with optimism, you can never lead in an authoritarian way. Your power lies in your ability to stimulate and excite others and to connect with them on their level.

You need close relationships as you are no loner and you crave an open-minded companion or lover who can be there to commiserate with you and share your hurts, but who never dictates to you or asks too many questions.

You change your mind frequently which can make you seem hypocritical, but this is simply your natural ability to adapt and quickly adopt a more suitable standpoint; you are versatile.

You can frustrate others, as you do not really know what you want, and your own confusion may be projected onto your relationships.

You tend to put your needs first and to see them as more important, probably because your needs are more elaborate and more willfully expressed so they tend to stand out more.

You are capable of great love, tenderness and compassion, but you will always be somewhat of a loose cannon, whom one cannot fully rely on as you are so unpredictable. You match well with Aries, Libra, Sagittarius, Cancer and Aquarius.

Sagittarius Lady With Capricorn Moon

This sun/moon combination creates an intense awareness of the need to adjust, and the pace of relationships is stop/start as you feel your way forward.

Your ego needs and your emotions are often at odds, and you attract experiences in love which challenge you and your perception of yourself.

You often have to have a reset where you stop and reassess; don't feel guilty about calling for time out in relationships.

You are susceptible to being manipulated by guilt and this may lead you into many situations which feel "no win". You adapt to others in relationships and can be self-sacrificing, often because you don't understand your needs, and can be pushed into an emotional corner by your partner.

Indecision pervades relationships and it takes you a long while to commit.

You analyze your own emotions and those of others with reference to logic and reason. You come across as steady emotionally and you conceal an inner shyness.

Earth moons are driven to be productive and competent and rarely relax and laze about – you can feel guilty when you are not working. You love to feel worthwhile and needed.

You fear rejection, especially intimate rejection. Money, power and security are important drives for you. You like to be with men who are serious minded, ambitious, tough and who can hold their own.

You are reserved emotionally, and take a long time to trust and confide in others. As open as you appear, parts of you are off-limits.

You like clear boundaries in relationships – friendship or love. You do not usually mix business and pleasure. You like planning and often like to structure a relationship, instead of letting it develop naturally.

You cannot stand hysterical types or moody people. You require respect and do not enjoy being teased about things you are most sensitive about.

Your mother was probably strong and resolute and may have had a 'pull yourself together' mode of mothering, although she was good organizer.

A moon in Capricorn Sagittarius lady is naturally good with finances and you have good money instincts. You are a slow starter as you are not someone who overestimates yourself; instead you start solidly and progress patiently.

This moon-sun combo cannot be pressured; you will take your own sweet time and, when you are ready, and not a second sooner, you will pounce on an opportunity.

Those with a Capricorn moon usually have upbringings where money is an issue – you may have had a rich background where your parents instilled in you the value of hard work or a poor upbringing where you went without, but dreamt of the day you would break out of that loop of hardship.

You look strong, and yet you conceal your inner vulnerability. You can let go in many respects, but not emotionally.

Your emotional wellbeing is somewhat dependent on material comfort. You have good business ability, especially in matters to do with catering, the home and real estate - you have a really good eye for property! There is excellent money-making ability here.

Possessions are often imbued with feelings in a rather sentimental way, and you may like to collect or even hoard material things as items from the past have great significance to you.

You have probably been a collector of things during your life. You are particularly sentimental about objects inherited from family or with a connection to a key memory or person in your life. There may be an interest in antiques or heirlooms, old family photos etc.

While you like to project as positive and optimistic, if you are honest, you will admit that you are a natural pessimist who has to develop optimism, rather than it coming naturally. You may need Dutch courage, as they say.

You are a born actor, great at playing the role of class joker and party animal, but that is not who you really are; you crave warmth, love and reassurance, and yet you find it very hard to find a guy who can fill the gap.

Taurus, Scorpio, Virgo and Cancer guys are good matches.

This cosmic mix gives rise to a far more earthy, genuine and cautious Sagittarius - you have your head screwed on, that's for sure, and you have excellent business instincts.

You fear being alone and yet your very nature is isolating - your ideal partner is someone who shares your passions and with whom you can work closely.

One problem with you is that you are self-indulgent emotionally; whatever you are going through is profound, in your mind, and you can go on and on in a supremely egotistical way, yet the problems of others are dismissed as uncomplicated or banal.

You revel in seeing your life as complicated as it makes you feel important. You have wisdom and emotional depth, but at times you just go round in circles and need to be told to snap out of it.

You tend to relax in an intimate setting with a long-term partner whom you are totally comfortable with - this is when you can be at your most loving.

Love with you is like an old whiskey - it takes great patience and skill to get it right, but the results are very rewarding. This can be a loving blend of influences.

You are an astute judge of character - if you chose a life partner, they must be something special.

Sagittarius Lady With Aquarius Moon

Your sun and moon are in compatible signs, and this enhances your ability to communicate and establish a friendly compatibility in relationships.

This aspect greatly enhances your ability to form lasting and positive relationship as your yin and yang are in harmony, and you are more likely to have imbibed positive messages about relationships from your parents.

You find it easier to get satisfaction in love than those with the sun and moon in conflicting signs.

You are a good parent and you enjoy bringing up children alongside your partner, who you cooperate with easily. You will embrace your family and friends, and will want a harmonious relationship with all your contacts.

You have a great deal of inner peace and harmony, which temper the more fiery traits of Sagittarius. You are in general even-tempered and kind-spirited in love.

You seek the freedom to be emotionally expressive and you want to live as a free spirit who come and goes as you please without restriction.

A lady with her moon in Aquarius is not suited at all to the army lifestyle, a strict religious or to any regimented way of life. You are more suited to a bohemian lifestyle.

You are able to have a calming influence on others, even if you do not feel calm inside.

This moon-sun position can bring an irrational fear of being tied down to the degree that you become emotionally aloof or evasive so keen are you to keep the barriers up and prevent control.

You can be very stubborn when it comes to your unique personal habits and quirks. While quite unconventional, you can be very habitual in some ways.

Love relationships have to excite you mentally, as you get bored fast and sexual and intimate things can only occupy you for so long.

You may be really ghastrly as picking partners when young, as you simply do not know what you want and you are all over the place in terms of your psychological development; however when you get older, you are much wiser and know what will work for you in relationships.

As you become more self-assured as a person, you can make a really stable, committed partner who can have a very successful partnership that lasts years.

You need a partner who has strong and interesting views on things and enjoys debate.

You like an open-minded character who is not obsessed with the material, you enjoy long discussions, and while you like sex, you do not enjoy anything too sentimental or fussy when it comes to the bedroom.

Most Aquarian moon ladies enjoy straightforward sex - you are not into gimmicks and you like things to flow and not be too staged or forced.

You need a partner who is happy to do his own thing and who has many friends and interests that can occupy him.

You won't like it if your partner has you on speed dial and is nagging about where you are and what you are doing and why you can't go out together that night, etc.

You want a partner who shows depth and who can be highly passionate, but not one who nags and pleads for attention. A partner must be your best mate and be an equal in love; you do not want to be his mom.

You are an idealist and a little naive, which means you often follow your heart more than you would ever admit - you argue logically but I can tell you that the emotions you deny have a great deal of influence on your thinking.

You are widely liked as you are relaxed and welcoming, and rarely have a nasty word to say - you are fun loving and always game for a party or event.

You value family relationships and often have significant friendships with cousins or aunts and uncles. While you want to be free, you need to be cared for, and so you cultivate confidants and trusted friends so you have a network of care to fall back on.

You are very attractive to men as you have an air of electricity as about you and are not run of the mill; however you are always on the move and quite hard to get to know.

Your man needs to be a friend first, as you choose partners from your inner circle even though you choose sexual partners from just about anywhere.

You are not quite as open-minded and progressive as you make out - you do have a good heart and good intentions, it's just that your ducks are not in a row in terms of your principles and priorities.

Your impatience and need for constant variety and stimulation can be exhausting; it takes energy to keep up with you.

Emotionally, you lack the ability to totally commit and so a guy may never feel fully secure with you. You suit an independent man with a great deal of emotional contentment - you are no use to a needy person.

You are a very positive and eager person - you do have emotional depth and emotional intelligence, but you are careless about matters of the heart and often neglect to nurture your own inner child or your closest relationships due to your insatiable desire for excitement and communication over contemplation and tenderness.

You can be a wild child who takes risks and often hurts the ones you love and need most.

You match well with Gemini, Sagittarius, Pisces and Libra.

Sagittarius Lady With Pisces Moon

Your sun and moon are linked in a somewhat stressful way, which leads to many emotional battles and head/heart conflicts, which means listening to your inner voice is harder.

You may find it hard to get what you want, especially in love, as you have a lot of internal contradictions.

You may find relationships hamper your self-expression and it may not always be easy for you to find a comfortable place emotionally in love relationships.

Family life can be topsy-turvy and often events in your family life unsettle you and make it hard for you to fulfil ambitions.

You may question your decisions in love, so you need to develop more confidence in your ability to love, be accepted and receive love.

Stop asking yourself so many questions and learn to relax and not to second guess yourself in relationships.

Trust yourself to make the right decisions and don't always think, "What if?"

A Sagittarius lady with moon in Pisces is strongly influenced and motivated by family matters. Your parents may well be very important to you, and they may well influence or even control you emotionally.

Sagittarius-Pisces often has a great attachment to the mother, and sacrifices are made for her wellbeing. More negatively, there can sometime be an over-identification with the mother where you feel like you need to live out her dreams.

You are very sensitive, and often this placement means a clairvoyant or psychic ability. You are certainly a person who perceives the subtleties in any environment.

You are highly sympathetic and yet you need more discernment, as some may play on your emotions and take advantage of your kind nature.

Your boundaries can be too porous – you need to establish firmer boundaries for others' behavior with respect to yourself.

You are a very kind and caring person, and may well work in a medical or caring profession. There is selfless side to you as you have a spiritual nature.

You are a little like a psychic sponge as you tend to absorb the emotions around you - for this reason, you need to stay well clear of negative people and toxic situations, and they seep into your subconscious and can affect you mentally and physically.

Your emotions can be strongly affected by the mood of those around you, so it is essential for you to surround yourself with positive people who can keep your spirits high, as being exposed to too much negativity can make you emotionally volatile for no valid reason.

You do like to be a Good Samaritan and help people when you are able to, but you have to be discriminating or else you will be taken advantage of.

This placement can cause a great deal of air-headed and scatterbrained behavior, as you are often dizzy and impetuous as you tend to be inspired by what is unseen.

You have highly developed spiritual insights and vision, but can be woefully impractical and often you enjoy pontificating while also avoiding committing to any one path.

You need space in your life for dreams, fantasy and the freedom to drift. Finding security is often hard and may be found in spiritual understanding rather than through relationships.

Emotional fulfilment is often found through devotion to a cause or through some kind of self-sacrifice.

Escapism is vital to those Sagittarius ladies with their moon in Pisces, and often it is achieved through fantasy, idealization or more negatively through drugs and alcohol.

There is a desire to leave the real world and to get away from the practical and mundane aspects of daily living. You yearn for the ideal and more often than not are disappointed with mere mortals and real life.

Sometimes, because you find it difficult to satisfy or recognize what your true needs are, you focus on the needs and feelings of others, devoting yourself to their welfare. Often it is hard for you to decide whether you are doing what you want or what someone else wants.

You yearn for a family life and may want a large family. Your weak point is that you allow family members or parents to get into your head and manipulate you via preprogrammed messages.

You need to rebuild yourself from the bottom up into what you want to be, free of external expectations.

Your energy comes and goes; this moon lady lacks the usual optimism and adventure driven attitude of your average Sagittarius, and you are cautious and like comfort.

You are vulnerable to toxic emotions and unpleasantness, especially on the home front, and this can affect your health.

You enjoy getting absorbed in books about faraway places and abstract ideas, you are easily inspired, and are keen to talk about your ideas with others.

You may enjoy the world of academia as you are protected, but intellectually free to explore endless ideas, then spread your wisdom.

The urge for religion or a form of spirituality is strong, and you could even be drawn to cults as they satisfy that Pisces moon need for acceptance by the group.

You enjoy travel, you can backpack around the world quite happily as you fit in anywhere and have an open attitude that draws others to you. You seek your spiritual home; you may make it a lifetime quest to find it.

But what will you do when the real world comes knocking? You are not keen on routine, pressure or responsibility.

You enjoy being with a capable partner who is organized and who can handle day to day matters, while you set about building that dream enterprise, whatever that is.

You are very generous, but may be spendthrift and irresponsible. Your key coping mechanisms are avoidance and denial, it is hard to thrash things out pragmatically with you as you just get antsy and walk away.

You match well with Cancer, Capricorn, Virgo and Aquarius.

Final Thoughts

I am sure you are now thinking, WOW, and the penny has dropped about many emotional aspects of your relationships both good and bad.

Remember that the moon represents the parts of your personality which are more subconscious, and which can have a big effect without you either noticing or being able to control them.

The negative aspects of the moon influence can easily be remedied by conscious will or meditation, and they tend to iron themselves out over time.

Moon sign reactions are often rooted in childhood and early bonding experiences and they can be made more or less problematic by aspects to the moon at birth.

However, by understanding your moon, you can harness the positives and understand the knee-jerk or irrational elements of its expression.

I hope you have managed to explain why certain things were happening to you, or at least, understand why certain partners made you feel uncomfortable despite the love you felt...

I encourage you to write down the most important bits of what you've discovered about yourself. This will help you stay aware of your reactions, impulses and will enable you to choose a partner that will be able to provide you with what your heart and soul truly needs.

There will soon be a series on the ascendant signs to help you gain further understanding.

In the meantime, take care and look after yourselves!

May the planets be with you!

Love,

Your Sister and Relationship Astrologer,

Anna
